GOVERNMENT HOUSE
HONG KONG

I send my best wishes to the Kowloon Jaycees and their sponsors for the success of their project to select ten outstanding young persons.

GOVERNOR

1st October 1976

Message from National President 1976

Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award

I am very pleased to see that Kowloon Jaycees are once again organizing this meaningful project this year. Without doubt, through their experience, they will run this project as successfully as they have done in the past few years.

The selections of outstanding young persons do not only inspire the records and recognitions of these young persons, but also encourage their contributions and outstanding achievements to the community. The awareness to the public stimulates their concern thus making greater efforts in improving the social, economical and spiritual well-being of mankind.

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my sincere congratulations to all the winners of this Award.

Paul Yin
National President 1976
HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER

Message from Paul T.P. Lo
President
Kowloon Jaycees

As we entered the third year of organising the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selections project, we felt a surge of enthusiasm and drive to head for another successful year. Not only we felt confident of securing public recognition to the significance of this project, but also we anticipated those selected outstanding young persons to have even stronger impact and encouragement to the young generation in establishing themselves to be more contributional individuals to our society.

I felt gratified to have strong supports from sponsors to make this project possible and I must compliment the organising committee for their hard work to make it a success. To those selected, I extend my congratulations. For those who have not been selected, I sincerely admire their spirit to take the challenge. It is just this kind of fine quality and attitude we, the young people, should possess to face the ever-existing challenges and tasks in the course of life. It certainly is not that they are not outstanding enough to be mentioned. Rather it is that their individual merits might not dove-tailed the criteria set for this selection on pretty widely categorical basis.

On behalf of Kowloon Jaycees, I wish to extend our appreciation to His Excellency, the Governor Sir Murray MacLehose to be the Hon. Patron of this project.

Paul T. P. Lo

MESSAGE FROM THE PROJECT CHAIRMAN

This is the third year that the Jaycees have organized the Ten Outstanding Young Person Selection. The experience gained in running the previous projects has stood us in good stead, however, there is always room for improvement.

The success of this year's Selection should be attributed to His Excellency the Governor Sir Murray MacLehose for again giving us his patronage, to our generous sponsors, Rediffusion Television Limited, Join-in Shirt, Shun Hing Electronic Trading Company Limited, General Bottling Company Limited and Success Insurance Limited, to Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company who helped us in the initial screening of the candidates, to all our judges who devoted so much of their precious time in interviewing the finalists, to all the Jaycees who served on the organizing committee and to the support from the public for sending in nominations without which this Selection would not be possible.

Lastly, I would like to express my belief that such a Selection serves a positive function in our society and I look forward to witnessing many more Ten Outstanding Young Person Selection projects in future years.

EDDY TSUI

1976 TOYP AWARDEES

BOW Siu-May (Miss)

According to Miss K.E. Barker, the proposer, Miss Bow is widely acknowledged as Hong Kong's foremost authority on education for the deaf. She decided to make this her vocation whilst still in secondary school, and pursued this course after graduation, despite strong parental objections. She has worked for the Hong Kong School for the Deaf for over 20 years now and has been the Principal since 1968.

During her first year as Principal she initiated secondary education at the school and has since brought a number of innovations both technological and philosophical. One of her major objectives has been to change traditional attitudes toward the deaf, particularly on the part of their family members. By constant counselling, she has succeeded in persuading many families to allow their deaf children to live at home rather than at school. This has had a transforming effect in the families concerned, and has made it possible to convert many of the sleeping quarters to classrooms, thus allowing expansion in service without additional building.

She has received considerable special training abroad, and in fact has just recently returned from Australia where she was doing research. She is recognised as an authority in her field throughout the world and has been invited on various occasions to give papers at conferences abroad. Finally, in spite of being a dynamic organiser and innovator, she is never too involved institutionally to be available to individuals. In fact, she is practically on 24-hour call for boarding students at the school; and she has through the years given immeasurable personal help and guidance, again at all hours, to individuals in crisis situations.

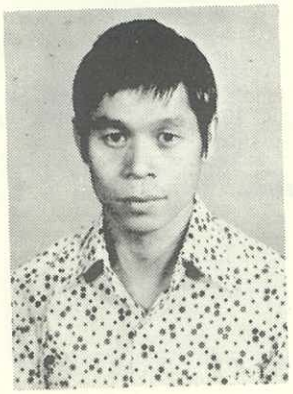

CHAM Yau-Sum, Kim

Mr. Cham, at 30 years of age, is the youngest person ever to serve on the Urban Council. It is generally inferred that he was chosen for this position of honour and responsibility largely because of his outstanding performance on the Consumer Council, of which he is still a member. He has served very actively on a number of sub-committees, to such a degree that it is impossible to point out one "greatest single accomplishment".

He has also served as Vice-Chairman of a City District Office Committee. In fact, it can safely be said that concern for the good of the community has been a clearly discernible primary motivation at least since the beginning of his working career in Hong Kong. For example, his major reason for leaving a successful career in business to re-enter full-time teaching was his sense of social obligation, specifically in the field of education. And his students' opinion appears to indicate that this was not a decision taken grudgingly.

Although it is too soon to evaluate his performance on the Urban Council (he has not yet even made his maiden speech), his expressed philosophy gives some indication of what to expect. He does not believe Hong Kong needs a basic change of system, but rather improved mechanisms by which the present system can be made to work better. Hence, we can expect his public pronouncements, (and more important, his not-so-public working effort) to be directed not toward more democracy in Hong Kong or more money or power for the Urban Council, but rather for more efficient and effective use of the powers and resources which the Council now possesses.

LAI Yau-Chuen

Mr. Lai's is an almost classic sports success story. Developing a natural talent through relentless hard work, he improved steadily to become the Hong Kong Individual Squash Champion in 1973. He had never played the game before the age of 18. Since becoming proficient in squash, he has shared the benefit of his knowledge and ability with others by giving lessons, often without charge, and by organising and coaching a number of teams. In the opinion of his proposer, he has been the prime mover, both by example and by direct effort, behind the increasing interest and participation in squash among Hong Kong Chinese, particularly youths. (It is estimated that currently upwards of 30% of new membership applications being received by the Rackets Association are from Chinese.)

LEBEN, Norma (Mrs.)

Mrs. Leben has brought genuine innovation to the profession of social welfare work in Hong Kong in both method and substance. The results over the past two years have been most encouraging.

She gained her expertise through sheer determination after an initial academic failure. Her motivation was tested and proven while she was studying at the University of Chicago. A representative of the Federation of Youth Groups asked her to return to Hong Kong and work for the Federation after completing her master's degree. She agreed, and later, when considering marriage to Mr. Leben, she laid down the condition that they both return to Hong Kong to help the under-previleged here. When she returned and took up her first assignment, she discovered that the Federation had no proper collection of data from which to work; no surveys were done to identify and assess problems. Her first innovation therefore was to introduce the survey method. Her unique contribution to the substance of programmes for dealing with problem youths has been the introduction of individual counselling in the techniques of problem analysis and problem solving. She is not so narrow-minded as to think that this is the only technique in dealing with problem children and young people. She definitely believes in a multi-faceted approach, and has successfully organised group activities, community work projects and such. But this particular technique was not being employed before. Hence, one additional tool is now available, and individual improvement records appear to demonstrate it is an important one.

To summarise, Mrs. Leben has, in a relatively short period of time, contributed much to the practice of her profession in Hong Kong, has accomplished impressive results through creative efforts, and is genuinely motivated by a desire to help others.

LI Fung-Kee, John

Mr. Li has been nominated for his outstanding achievement both in the detection and prevention of crime. Since returning to Hong Kong after receiving special training in the U.K., he has achieved an overall detection rate which is unequalled throughout the Colony.

As a person, the quality which impresses us most is his honesty. Very early in our interview, when asked his primary reason for becoming a policeman, he stated quite honestly that his first motivation was economic. However, as he has seen and experienced more of the darker side of life in Hong Kong, he has developed the objective of improving the quality of life here, especially for the poor. His personal belief is that 75% of the solution to the problem of crime lies in the area of prevention.

Due to the nature of his work, he is unable to become active in outside social or welfare activities; but he has, in our view, done much more than just a good job. Through his 100% commitment, dynamism and the creative deployment of resources, he has contributed something extraordinary to the community and his profession.

TANG Ka-Fat

Mr. Tang's outstanding achievement is the attainment of personal success in the face of apparently hopeless odds while not forgetting the needs of others. The story behind his qualification as a Chartered Engineer must be heard in person to be appreciated (or perhaps even believed), as it contains highly improbable coincidental factors combined with the man's own characteristics of brassy innocence, enterprise and incredible drive.

But his personal qualities and success are not his only claims for meriting an Award. During his time in London, he also became a well-known volunteer interpreter/advocate for non-English speaking Chinese. He helped new arrivals from Hong Kong with problems such as finding accommodation and immigration matters, and he estimates that he aided in around 100 cases involving litigation, from minor disputes to alleged felonies.

Since returning to Hong Kong he has organised volunteer lectures at the Polytechnic by two colleagues and himself, each in his specialty area. He has also extended an open invitation to the Polytechnic for student visits to his site (Waterloo Station) where specialised modern equipment can be observed in action. These and other planned services reflect his philosophy that since, in addition to his own efforts, he has received much vital help from other people, the best way to repay such friends is to reflect honour on them by in return helping others.

THE TEN OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS SELECTION

1. Purpose

This project seeks to give communal recognition to the young people of Hong Kong, whose dedication to their profession or life undertaking, has resulted in exceptional achievements in the form of significant contributions to the progress or welfare of the community at large, or to the advancement of their respective fields of endeavour.

The project aimed at attracting public attention, and giving proper recognition to the outstanding achievements of the winning candidates. They will then serve as inspirational examples to young people of Hong Kong to forge ahead to greater development of the community.

2. History

The history of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection dated far back in 1938, when it was first organised by American Jaycees and won wide-spread support from the community. Many of the recruits become eminent people later in their career.

To name some of them, the late President John Kennedy was selected at the age of 29 in 1946, when he was the Senator of Massachusetts. The former President Richard Nixon was selected in 1947 at the age of 34, when he was the Senator of California, being recognised for his outstanding contribution in Foreign Aids programmes.

3. Introduction to Hong Kong

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection was first introduced to Hong Kong by the Hong Kong Junior Chamber in 1974, jointly organised by the Kowloon Jaycees and Hong Kong Jayceettes. In this project, H.E. the Governor was the Patron. On the whole, it was very well received by the public. Because of this success, it was organised the second time last year, and is organised for the third time this year by the Kowloon Jaycees.

4. Nomination and Selection

Nomination to the Selection is open to any person between the age of 21 to 40, who have resided in Hong Kong for 5 years or over.

Young men and women may be nominated by any individuals, clubs, organisations, associations, institutions, companies for an Award in any professional.

Professional Consultants will conduct a preliminary screening to see that the candidates have conformed with the requirements, to discuss the merits of each and every of them and to give ratings. The candidates will be screened down to a convenient number covering the various fields for a first interview by professional consultants. Successful candidates will be finally interviewed by a Board of Judges. The Board of Judges shall be composed of distinguished citizens residing in Hong Kong who are over 40 years of age, representing the various fields.

The major criterion and consideration in the selection of the awardee shall be a nominee's exceptional achievement and contribution of considerable signficance and importance in service to the community and humanity as a whole, his/her profession in the spirit of selfless giving in the interest of youth and community development, in the form of actual and personal contributions to the community and humanity in general.

carpet capers

- COMPOSIL defies stains . . . keeps the magic in your carpet.
- COMPOSIL reduces carpet maintenance costs.
- COMPOSIL preserves the tone and texture of your carpet.

I don't like him. He takes the fun out of spilling things on carpets.

All carpets or textiles, whether wool or man-made fibres, have a natural attraction for dirt and stains. When your carpets are treated, a revolution takes place. COMPOSIL acts as a repellent and the carpet refuses to absorb any liquid..

Composil renders each and every fibre, right down to the backing, totally NON-ABSORBENT, LIQUID-PROOF. Ordinary soils and dirt are repelled. Colour and lustre are retained. Shampooing is eliminated, thus prolonging carpet life.
