MIRANT

Mirant Philippines, a wholly owned subsidiary of Atlanta-based Mirant Corporation, is the largest private producer of electricity in the country, owning more than 2000 MW of installed generating capacity. It owns and operates the 1218-MW Sual Power Station in Pangasinan, the 735-MW Pagbilao Power Station in Quezon, the 210-MW Navotas I and 100-MW Navotas II Power Station in Metro Manila, 15-MW SDC Power Station in San Ildefonso, Bulacan and the 1250-MW natural gas-fired Ilijan Power Plant in Batangas. Mirant Philippines also owns Toledo Power Station in Cebu, which has a combined capacity of 135 MW.

Mirant Philippines was the first to heed the call for private sector assistance to resolve the power crisis in the late 1980s. It pioneered the B-O-T concept in the country and set the precedent for private sector participation in power generation, as well as in resolving the country's power dilemma. Today, with its Energy Supply Business, Mirant Philippines is again opening new gates of opportunity in providing creative energy solutions to the country's evolving energy needs.

Achieving the position of premiership in the nation, Mirant Philippines now looks beyond merely being the leading company in the country. Through a strategic combination of operational excellence and creative energy solutions, Mirant Philippines is geared to recognize and respond to the country's intensifying requirements, responding in ways that power the growth of the nation.

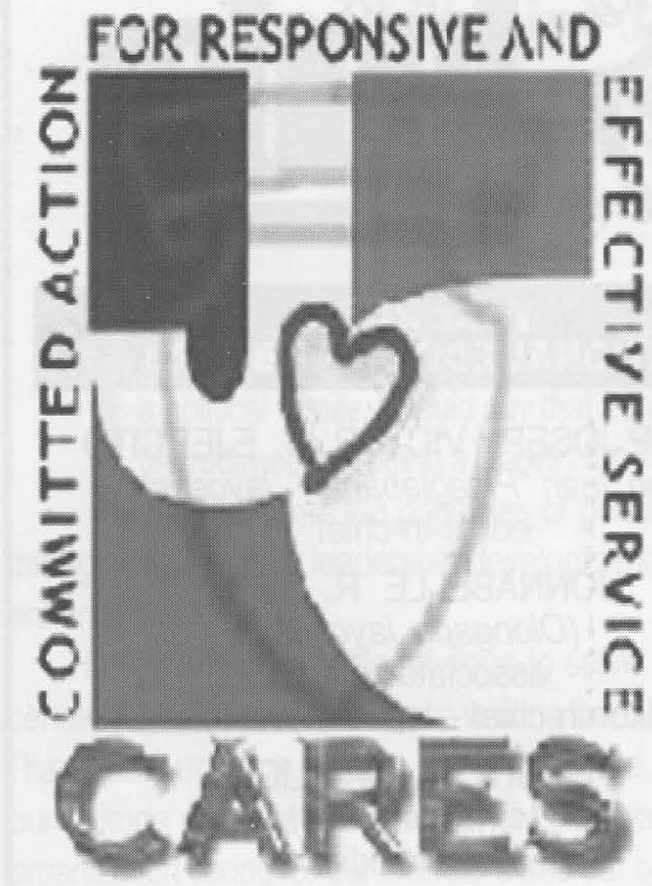

As it is committed to the nation's growth, Mirant Philippines is equally committed to being the leader in corporate social responsibility. Through its social development arm -- Mirant Philippines Foundation, Mirant Philippines extends its partnership in nation building through its strategic programs that boost human capital development. The Mirant Philippines Foundation is committed to creating opportunities that address the structural root causes of poverty in the country through its efforts in education, health and rural electrification.

As the leading company in the country, Mirant Philippines is set on continually generating opportunities that empower lives and build the nation.

We lead. We serve. We are Mirant Philippines.

We see the opportunity to change the world with our energy.

JC C.A.R.E.S.

JC C.A.R.E.S. stands for "JC Committed Action for Responsive and Effective Service." Under the leadership of the first lady National President in the organization's 54-year history, the Philippine Jaycees is poised to pursue an administration dedicated, not only to maximize the full potentials of each and every member of the 6,000-strong organization, but also to serve the individual with a caring heart.

Much like a woman's positive qualities, the logo personifies the "human" character of the organization. The basic shades that serve as the logo's background represent the simple yet fundamental aspirations of every Jaycee: Blue symbolizes devotion to the community it has sworn to serve; Green stands for stability, endurance and quietude... qualities that typify an ideal Jaycee; Red embodies warmth, but it also stands for strength, power and leadership; lastly, Yellow corresponds to wisdom, as the myriad of experiences in our organization add value, insight and innate understanding of the world around us.

A heart, engraved in the middle of the logo, embodies the centerpiece of this year's administration. It symbolizes the organization's thrust of caring for its members, while continuing to show compassion to its constituent communities. All these aspirations are carried within the framework of the six tenets of the Jaycee Creed, denoted by the familiar Jaycee shield in the background.

ABOUT THE COVER

The Junior Chamber of the Philippines scores another milestone in its history, as the first lady National President in its 54 years of existence is installed during the modest induction ceremonies at the 53rd JCP National Convention held in Tacloban City last October 13, 2001.

Youth leader Atty. Mabel P. Villarica-Mamba, the concurrent Chairperson and Chief Executive Officer of the National Youth Commission, Past Presidential Adviser on Youth Affairs and former Vice Mayor of Marilao, Bulacan sets her sights for a year of service in the National Organization as she encapsulates her term through "JC C. A. R. E. S" - Committed Action for Responsive Effective Service.

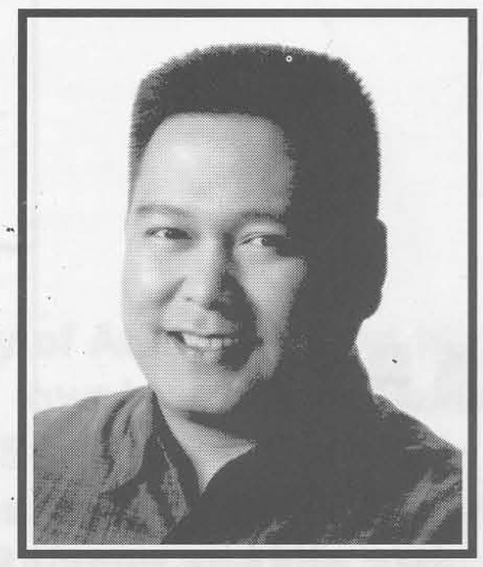

The cover captures the many faces of this historic turn-over and induction rites as the Junior Chamber of the Philippines prepares to chart a new course, this time, under the helm of its very first lady National President. Full speed ahead!

DESPITE ALL ODDS . . .

Our nation is now facing one of the most challenging periods in its history. Life has been so hard in the last few months for the ordinary Juan dela Cruz. After the economic turbulence of 2001 – wherein more than 2,000 companies closed down and more than 100,000 people lost their jobs – it is seldom nowadays to see a smiling individual walking our streets.

To add to our woes, the peace and order situation has certainly deteriorated in the past years. Kidnappings, robberies, carnappings, and heinous crimes are common occurrences in our day-to-day living. The continuous rise of prices of basic commodities, utilities and needs of our people such as electricity, water and gasoline are adding more blows to the ordinary masa.

Despite all these turmoil, the Jaycees – being the only leadership development organization in our country – has managed to survive so many crises that have hit the nation. Looking back and analyzing things, this period could be considered as the most uncertain of all the crises that the Philippines has gone through. We no longer know what to expect of tomorrow.

Our NOM has likewise been affected by these national quandaries; there is no denying of this fact. This comes in the form of the rapid decline in membership over the past two fiscal years. I would say that the causal factors to this decline are beyond the control of neither our national officers, or the national movement itself. The underlying issues are economics and administrative stability.

As we face these trying times, we – the Jaycees – are prepared to stand to these challenges no matter how gargantuan the tasks lie ahead. Great leaders are known to be able to respond to the needs of the organization or the movement in which they belong to.

It is therefore our challenge, as future leaders of this historic nation, to bring back the varnished smile on the faces of our fellowmen. The hope and certainty of a brighter, promising tomorrow rest upon us in the University of Leaders. The Jaycees are expected to produce genuine leaders and genuine leadership that would turn things around for our country in the future.

Correlating the history of leaders and the leadership of our nation to our affiliation with the Philippine Jaycees, it is us who are expected to make a difference, and that which would make the future generation proud of our organization.

The Philippine Jaycees- An Organization That Truly Cares

By JCI Sen. MABEL P. VILLARICA-MAMBA
National President

I grew up in the Jaycees, having joined as a Charter Member of the Marilao "Marilag" Jaycees in 1988 when I was only 19 years old. Although I came from a political family, I would say that it was in the Jaycee movement that I learned the rudiments of being a leader. My ascendants, including my father, may have instilled in me the principles of genuine and honest public service, yet it was through the Jaycee's leadership development programs and areas of opportunity that these leadership principles were enhanced.

Having been given the privilege to serve as the 54th National President of the Junior Chamber of the Philippines is certainly the chance I have been waiting for to give back to the organization, and to our members, the wonderful blessings I have received because of it. The NOM theme, "Committed Action for Responsive and Effective Service", thus, emphasizes our attitude or manner in the way we approach and implement our programs, projects, and activities- that we are an organization caring for our members and our community, committed to serve responsively and effectively.

During the Planning Session of the National Board in Tacloban City, Leyte, each of the national officers set doable and achievable targets for their respective areas and regions. Further, we laid down strategies on how to achieve our goals. I am proud to report that the camaraderie, unity and cooperation among the members of the National Board is very evident because everyone has been performing and doing their share of the enormous responsibility tasked upon us to do.

Both the 1st and the 2nd National Board Meetings (held at the JCP Headquarters and in Boracay, respectively) were successful, such that the momentum of accomplishing our targets is definitely gaining ground. We even initiated the inclusion of a community project in these meetings in order to give more significance to the NOM theme. We visited the boys' and girls' home at the National Center for Mental Health during the first National Board Meeting and launched Jaycee Week and "Mula sa Poso ni Gloria" during the second. I remember saying that if we will be able to put enough weight on the good quality of our projects and highlight what we have attained in the past and at the present, it will not be difficult to spread Jayceeism and eventually invite more members to join the movement. So far, so good... may our energy level increase and soar to greater heights.

Providing inspiration and much wisdom to me, and the rest of the National Board, is the first National President and fourth World President, Ambassador Ramon del Rosario. Hearing him speak of his Jaycee experiences, as if it only happened yesterday, with candor, wit, and sincerity, has humbled me to be the best that I can be, and to do the most that can be done. With today's modern conveniences in terms of communication, information technology and transportation, no excuse seems to be valid enough to justify why we were not able to do what is expected of us, and yet the founders of the Philippine Jaycees were able to establish the premier leadership development organization in the country just after World War II.

The 5-day stay (longest so far by any World President) of our World President, JCI Sen. Salvador Batlle Domenech, also gave the general membership much encouragement and morale booster. Despite the fact that we have filled up his schedule, maximizing his waking hours (and sometimes, encroaching upon his bedtime), and making him visit four (4) out of five (5) areas of the Philippine Jaycees by land, sea, and air, WP Salvi has maintained his charm, friendliness, and easy-going nature. He has definitely made a positive difference in our lives, knowing that we have a World President who has a vision for our organization and the will to back it up.

For the first quarter, all the four (4) areas of opportunity, handled by our four (4) dynamic National Directors, namely: JC Gemma Sapnu (Individual), JC Joel Pascual (Community), JC Danny Hernandez (Business), and JC Marie Murillo (International), are being consistently offered to LOMs and to individual members through the implementation of national projects (likewise chaired by active National Project Chairpersons). As much as possible, we would like to make our chapters and members feel that they are getting value for the time, money, and effort that they are giving to the Jaycees. In the same manner, we would also like to prove to our program partners and corporate sponsors that they made the right decision in joining forces with us.

Quoting from my current favorite book, "The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership" by John C. Maxwell, "Leadership is not really how much you know, but showing people how much you care."

NOT A VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

By: JCI Sen. Mabel P. Villarica-Mamba
National President

In the JC movement, we espouse the principle of "one year to lead." And whenever this topic comes up, two schools of thought come to mind – one year is long for those who are not doing anything, and too short for those who are doing a lot.

Although I took my oath of office in October of 2001, it was not until January 1, 2002 that I assumed the responsibilities of being the 54th National President. With three and a half more months to go, has it been long or short for me? Frankly speaking, it is very hard for me to say. Because there is still so much to do and I do not know when I can say that I can already start winding down the activities for the year.

Having been with the organization for the past 14 years, I have had the privilege of working closely with many of our Past National Presidents. During my inaugural speech in Tacloban, I made mention of the special qualities of these outstanding men that inspires me to do my best. Past World President Chichos Luciano, for his quiet demeanor and strong leadership; Past World President Cris Dy, for his wisdom and dedication; PNP Angie Angliongto, for his undying commitment to the JC movement; PNP Rolly Ramirez, for his logical way of dealing with issues; PNP Gerry Sevilla for his principles and idealism; PNP Rod Ngo for his "JCP On Wheels" tour of the Philippines; PNP Bobby Alvarez for his boundless energy; PNP Marcel Fernan for his wit and charm; PNP JV Ejercito for his natural political savvy and humility; PNP Josel Reyes for his patience and kindness; PNP Boydee Dizon for his charisma and particularity to details; and IPNP Jim-jim Yaokasin for his cool demeanor amidst pressure. And this year, because of projects and chapter visitations, more inspiring National Presidents have been added to the list – our First National President and Past World President, Ambassador Ramon del Rosario, for being who he is. Every meeting we have had with him, every word that he said to us, and every gesture he made with his face and with his hands, is so priceless. How I wish I were able to record every moment on video so I can easily replay the scenes. I also met the youngest (as of yet) National President Boy Calo who regaled me with JC trivia, as well as adventures one can only have in the Jaycees. There was also PNP Frank Evaristo who remains to be very active in civic works and PNP Douglas Nazareno who was able to visit all of the LOMs during his time. In my other capacity as Chairperson of the National Youth Commission, I also have a debt of gratitude to Past World President Sonny Belmonte. He immediately endorsed the congressional approval of the NYC budget in 2000 when he found out I am a JC.

Like any other leader, I tried looking at the JCP situation from the macro and the micro point of view. And together with an exceptional and wonderful batch of national officers, the 2002 National Board, we plotted on our strategies and goals for the year. One thing I learned though, there is no hard and fast rule. All sorts of combinations, tactics and approaches have to be tried and tested in order to attain the objective. Some proved to be costly, others proved to worthwhile. Nonetheless, it was still a win-win situation because this was the only way to learn – to do things and experience the realities of life. As such, without being conscious of what we were achieving, the 2002 National Board and the 2002 batch of LOM Presidents were able to come up with a lot of "firsts", as well as accomplishments and feats worthy of their place in history. However, this is not yet my valedictory address, and as I said, we still have three and a half more months left. Marami pang mangyayari.

National Presidents come and go. But the organization remains. The NPs, I have met so far, and even those I haven't, contributed immensely to the success of the Junior Chamber of the Philippines in one way or the other. I am not sure if I deserve to occupy the space provided for the 54th National President at the JCP Conference Room and be in the same wall as the 53 other NPs. Hence, this means I will have to continue to try and do my best, and make certain that I will deserve that space when my one year is up.

A CHARMED LEADERSHIP:
2002 NP MABEL FOCUSES ON RESULTS RATHER THAN ON PROCESSES

(By NORIBEL L. DELA CRUZ-TAGUBA)
San Juan Pinaglabanan Jaycees

There is something in her voice that denotes authority and credibility. Her use of words commands high esteem. She delivers with conviction. Her chinky eyes speak fervor along with her utterances. And she can do it with vast aplomb whether she enunciates in English or Filipino.

The best part of what she says is what she has done or what she has yet to do. And she does it remarkably.

It is indeed a source of pride to the female gender of the Philippine Jaycees that the 54th National President of the only leadership development organization in the country is amongst them. The first Lady National President in the history of Jayceeism in the Philippines, Mabel Pineda Villarica-Mamba, represents a fresh breed of leadership and brings with her a rich background of education, experience and expertise in leadership excellence.

NP Mabel beams as seven Past National Presidents place the Presidential Medallion on the first lady NP.

The only daughter and the eldest in the family, she is the pride not only of the Jaycee movement in the country but most especially her parents, Atty. Mario G. Villarica – a former Mayor of Marilao, Bulacan – and the late Josefina Pineda Villarica.

She holds BA Political Science and Bachelor of Laws degrees from the University of the Philippines. She was elected the youngest and only female Vice Mayor of Marilao, just after she passed the Philippine Bar Exams in 1995.

STARTING OUT IN THE JAYCEES

Thirteen (13) years after she joined the Jaycees, she now heads a national organization that boasts of prominent national leaders – both in government and business. And yet she never imagined herself to be where she is right now, as National President of the Junior Chamber of the Philippines, concurrently as the Chairperson of the National Youth Commission.

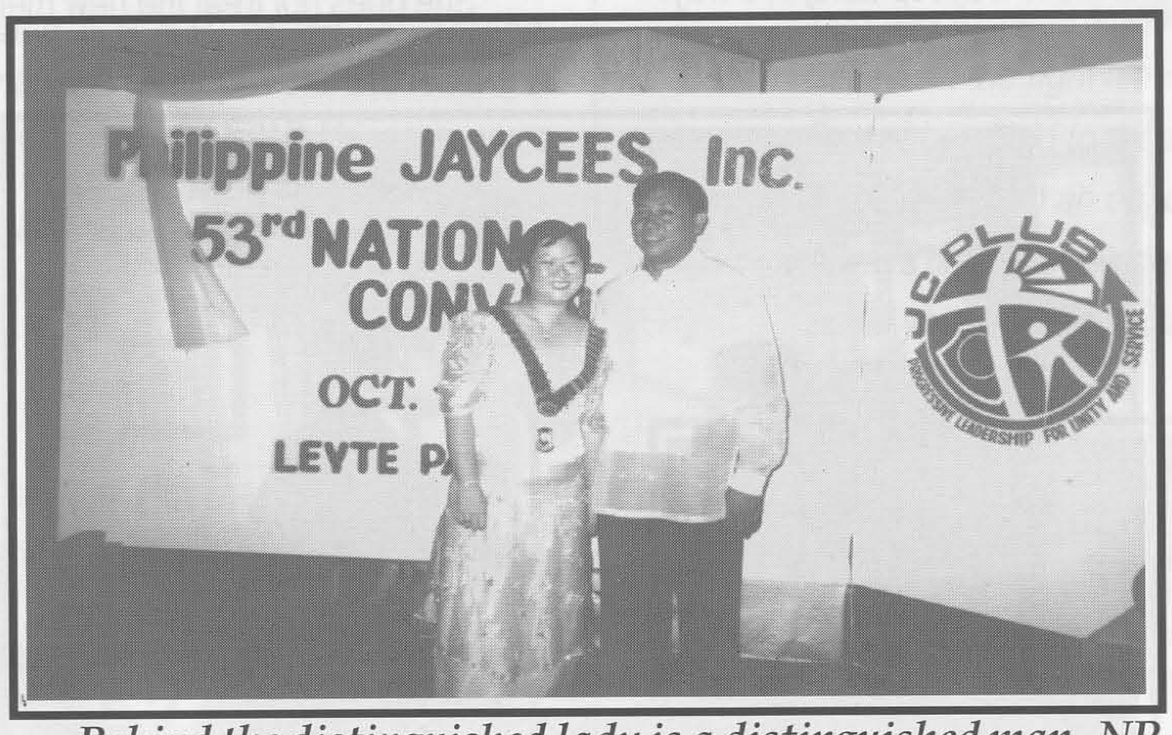

The gavel is turned over by outgoing NP Jimjim Yaokasin to Incoming NP Mabel Villarica as Past National Presidents look on.

Her classmates say that NP Mabel is a late bloomer. She really never sought for positions but gets elected to them. Others have seen her potentials. The national presidency in the Jaycees has been a dream but she never brawled to reach the ranks. She was not as aggressive a decade back as she is now.

According to her, she got "addicted" to the Jaycees and was enthused by the running aphorism by co-members to "aim high, dream big" in the organization. She waited for the right time and though she thought it may never come true because she hails from a very small, all-female, provincial chapter, the wait was worth it.

Highly instrumental to her entry to the Jaycees is JCI Sen. Hilario G. Cruz II, famously known as "Kuya Larry" in the organization, who is the Charter President of Marilao Jaycees – the extending LOM to NP Mabel's Marilag Jaycees.

The 2002 NOM Theme "Jaycee C.A.R.E.S. – Committed Action for Responsive and Effective Service" reflects both the ideals and ideologies of NP Mabel as an individual and as a leader. Being appealed to Jayceism because of the trainings she underwent from the very beginning, she says that only the Jaycees can pool in quality and first-rate speakers.

Behind the distinguished lady is a distinguished man. NP Mabel with her proud husband, Cong Manuel Mamba of the 3rd district of Cagayan.

Her driving force was strengthened when she was asked once again asked by Kuya Larry to join the Training of Trainors with a line up of coaches in the persons of World President Crispin C. Dy, Jr., National President Rolando C. Ramirez, Wilma C. Lim, Agnes J. Angeles and Marisa D. Nallana.

While she was passive in the beginning, as she was only in her undergraduate junior year in UP, the training changed her impetus in the group. She found her niche in training and found it very inspiring because she already experienced that she can make a positive effect on people and make a difference in others' lives.

THE NATIONAL PRESIDENCY

Her motivation to seek the highest position is the fact that no woman has ever been elected or has even run as president in the national organization. Yet more than this, she really wants to make a difference in the Jaycees, by making a difference in her life and in other people's lives. NP Mabel says she wants to put into practice her 14 years of experience in the organization.

When asked why she still had to be a National President when she is already a National Chairperson of the Youth arm agency of the Philippine government, she responds with pride that she actually feels that the Jaycees is a more encompassing and wider organization, as it caters not only to the youth, but professionals from all sectors of society as well.

Stating that she owes a lot to the Jaycees, she believes this is "payback time" for all that it has done in her personal life, in her professional career and even in her studies. Jaycees is truly instrumental in finishing her legal studies and eventually become a lawyer.

The event in her life that prepared her to become the National President is when she got active in the national level and was able to meet a lot of people from around the country. She realized that she could create a positive impact on other Jaycees, when her mere presence was warmly received by chapters in the other areas. This validated her insight that she was starting to make a difference.

Moreso, the 1996 national officers led by NP Roberto "Bobby" A. Alvarez, Jr. greatly inspired her to pursue the position. For the record, that batch of officers has produced five (5) National Presidents of the Philippine Jaycees, excluding NP Bobby himself.

THE FIRST LADY NATIONAL PRESIDENT

NP Mabel believes that, while there is a significance by being the first-ever lady National President of the Philippine Jaycees, she credits many past women figures in the Jaycees for paving the path that she currently treads.

It was only in the 1970s that the organization accepted women in its membership and it really took time before a woman reached the helm of national leadership. Although Anna Maria G. de Guzman, who is also her second-degree cousin, was acting National President for a month when Vicente C. Besa took a leave of absence, it was only in 2001 that a woman was duly elected to the position.

She admits that while equality among men and women was advocated in the past years, the movement still remains a "macho" organization to date. As the first lady NP, she has opened doors for women as effective National Presidents.

As a woman, she believes that women have a different style of governing, of managing the people and the affairs of the organization. She says, "We can use charm and not be accused of being weak. We can make difficult decisions and at the same time use charm to make it acceptable, in a way."

NP Mabel states that she would be a hypocrite if she says that being the first lady National President did not boost her ego. Yet, the position is more than that. It is a challenging responsibility, as the organization expects so much from her. With this in mind, she is determined to pave the way for a credible presidency for other women to follow.

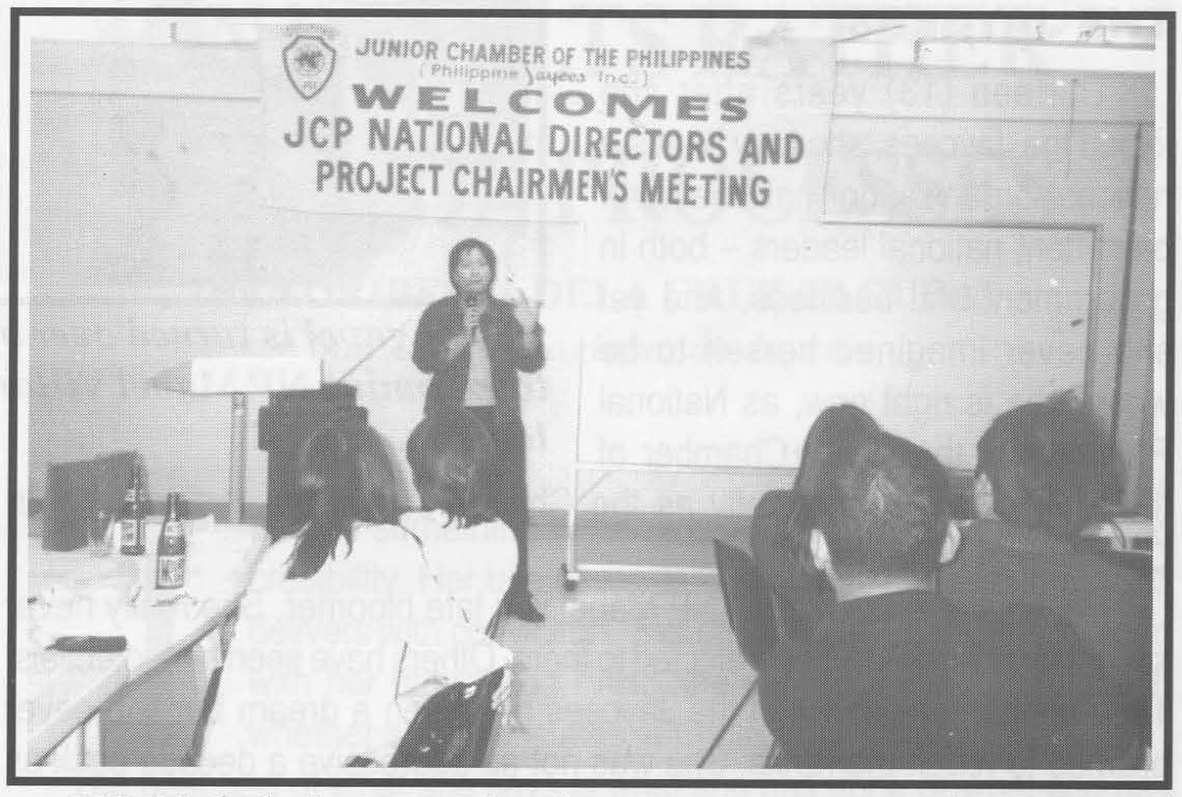

LEADING THE PHILIPPINE JAYCEES

NP Mabel's leadership style boils down to this principle: "If I can see that you can do your responsibilities your own way and produce the same results I want them to be, then I allow you to."

She does not impose herself on people, especially if she knows they can perform better using their own style of doing things. Her procedure is very democratic – she listens, and seldom dictates unless necessary. Because she places so much trust on the people under her, she dispenses hands-on supervisory management, relying instead on a results-oriented rather than process-oriented approach.

Her management is one of "principled leadership". She can easily make her point, but more importantly, she ensures there is a positive action resulting to an end of that point.

NP Mabel aims to implement projects that would not cost the individual chapter-members so much. If her national board cannot at least help with funding, at least she works for assistance "in kind" to encourage the chapters to be active in the organization, leading to an interest to support and eventually be active in the National Organization.

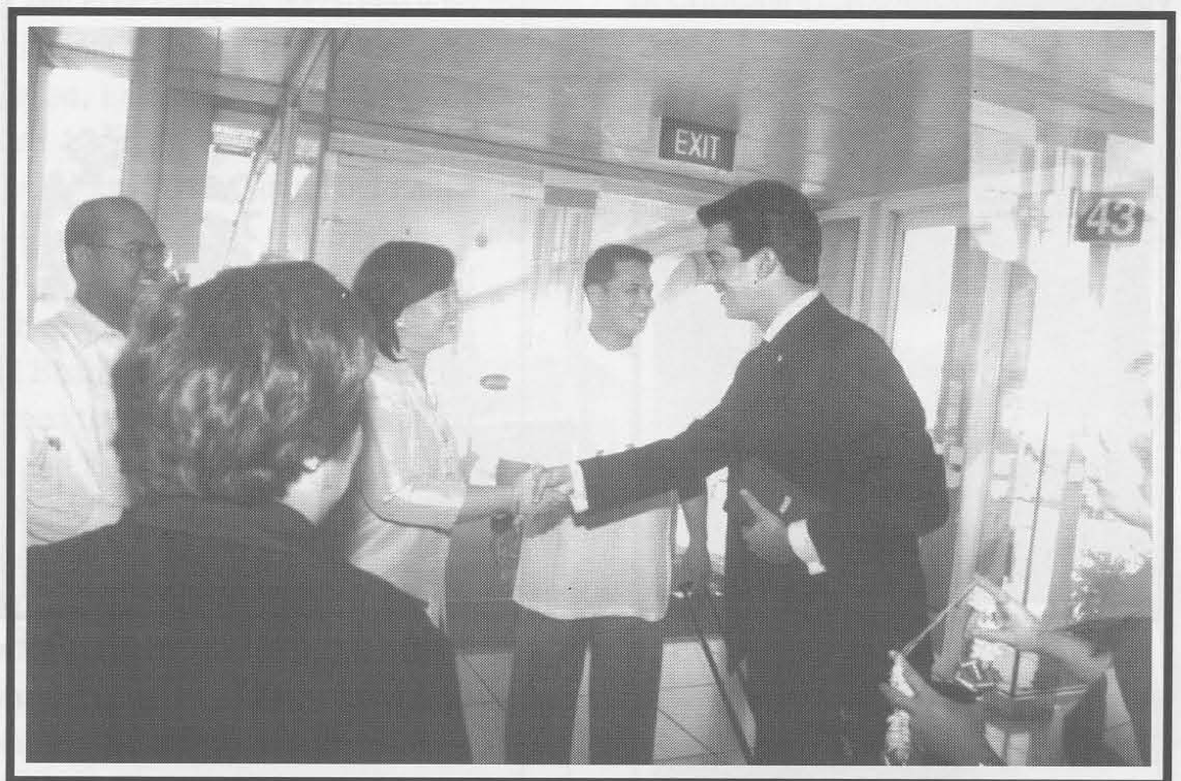

NP Mabel gives words of encouragement to the National Director and Project Chairmen.

Her biggest challenge in the national organization is logistics – how to raise funds and how to support the National Organization.

She does not treat the new members as her juniors but as equals. They are her friends and she does not expect any special treatment from them, though she believes that she has the responsibility to protect the office in which she was elected into; in this regard, she makes sure that others get to respect the position she represents.

Her specific plans for the Philippine Jaycees do not entail any changes. She just tries to get the best accomplishments from her predecessors. In fact, when she delivered her inaugural speech as the organization's 54th National President, she said that she shall simply apply what she has learned from the past National Presidents whom she has worked with.

National President meets World President, WP Salvi Battle receives a warm reception upon his arrival at NAIA.

She wants to be remembered as the President who put back the Philippine Jaycees back to its original place in society; that is, as a recognized partner of the community – both nationally and locally – in national development. She wants "Jaycees" to be a by-word in community circles. With this image, she hopes to bring back the stature it enjoyed during its heyday.

Her Excellency President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo graces the launching of the "Mula sa Poso ni Gloria" project during Jaycee Week.

On the darker side of the organization, she reveals that "intriga" is what really disappoints her, although no major issue has yet been leveled against her. She cited the observation that during elections, some people get to discredit their opponents, when all of them belong to the same organization.

LEGACY IN THE ANNALS OF THE MOVEMENT

NP Mabel admits that she is not much into this "legacy thing." But more than being the first lady National President, she takes pride in the project which she co-conceptualized with 1998 NP, and currently San Juan Mayor, Joseph Victor G. Ejercito – the Batang E.R.A.P. or "Estudyanteng Responsable para sa Aktibong Pamamahala" (Responsible Students for Active Governance), which is now renamed "Batang LEADER."

MOA signing with Sen. Kiko Pangilinan for the implementation of T.A.Y.O.

"The project has a very special place in my heart because its impact is beyond the organization, for the reason that the ideals and values of Jayceeism are shared to the community through budding young leaders," she recalled. Indeed, the recognition which the project received from the Area Conferences to the World Congresses was overwhelming, considering that it all started with an informal conversation.

LOOKING AHEAD

NP Mabel earnestly hopes that the Philippine Jaycees could be financially stable, and in turn, the National President would not be burdened in raising the funds. She believes that the head of this organization has so much to think about, so many plans to carry out, and so many visions to espouse, that getting the finances to run its operations must not occupy a huge part of her presidency.

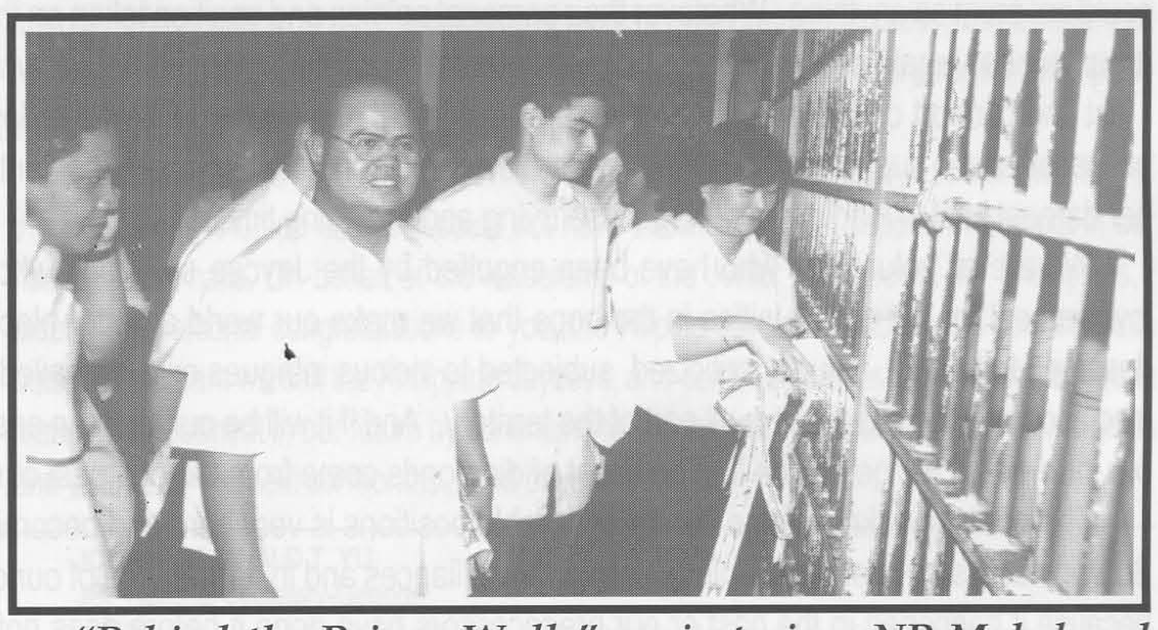

As she assumes the role of Immediate Past National President in a few months' time, she plans to take an active role in the organization as its major fundraiser.

STIRRING WORDS

For a person whose young life seems to have been fated with a significant leadership role in the future, NP Mabel is certainly a personality to watch for. Her simple but dignified bearing explicates a leader that does not only make things happen, but does them resplendently.

She is so down to earth but her headship is so influential and empowering. To fellow Jaycees, the following is a lexis of inspiration from the first lady National President of the Philippine Jaycees:

- Do it slowly.
- Savor every moment that you are in the organization.
- Try to learn as much as you can and do not regret if you take the long way towards leading the organization.
- Believe in the right time.
- Do not be afraid to dream, and when you dream, dream big.
- If you are given an opportunity to grow, grab it.
- Always believe in taking advantage of the opportunities that would come your way, especially if the timing is right.

"Behind the Prison Walls" project gives NP Mabel and her officers a rare insight with Prison life.

JAYCEES AS ARBITERS OF CHANGE

(By NSEVP ISMAEL "MAENG" P. PENADO)

The ancient practice of fortune-telling or feng shui has always fascinated believers and non-believers through the centuries. It seems that everyone is curious to know what the future may bring. The Year of the Water Horse in the Chinese Lunar New Year is predicted to be a year of great changes as it will be a period of high spirit and incessant activity.

For the past several years, our nation has gone through so many big changes, so many unforeseen upheavals, natural mandate and so many discouragements. Our people went through all these and begun to feel a creeping loss of confidence in ourselves as a nation. But change, according to business tycoon Jaime Zobel de Ayala, is also a positive force for renewal and an opportunity for development. It's been said again and again that we live in a world where the only constant is change. And change is always accompanied by resistance and discomfort, a sense of being removed from the warmth of a sort bed and thrown in the cold hard pavement.

We in the Philippine Jaycees is confronted same predicament. The last 54 years has seen how we adhered to our primordial duty of developing society's future leaders. But when we think of it, the problem is, either we are too slow in coping with it or we are not changing at all. The financial deficits, the delayed communications, the ugly fights, the vicious intrigues and even the leadership vacuums are just new versions of the old problem, new variations of the old mistakes and new revivals of the old tunes.

It's a new world out there and the nation's precarious situation and our standing in the international community has limited our options. We are left with two choices, either we accept change and change with it or we go in prolonged denial. But this is where our power lies. To use it bravely to build a new and better organization or to use this power wrongly to destroy it. IT'S YOUR DECISION. But like it or not, your National Board has instead chosen to initiate change and direct it so we can shape and nurture our destiny and dictate the future we want for our organization. Youth Smoking Prevention, Mula sa Poso Project, Beyond The Prison Walls were conceptualized to create a niche truly our own, undeniably Jaycees. The quality of these projects is a step toward this end.

When I recently went to Zamboanga City on my way to Basilan, I had the unenviable task of delivering the decision of the National Board canceling their hosting of the 2002 National Convention, I also informed them that the process to select an alternative venue will soon follow. And there I was, listening to the arguments, opinions, (legal or otherwise), outbursts and lamentations of my fellow Jaycees, a number of whom are friends whom I deeply respect, taking all the blows, trying to reason out, reassuring them but could not promise anything. Whatever their personal opinion and position taken on this issue, whether the argument has legal basis or not, whether the outburst is uncalled for or righteous, whatever their reasons, I just find comfort on the thought that we are all doing these for the love of the Jaycees. I did it as an obligation and in support of the National Board's decision and our National President who has been doing her darnest best in leading us during these trying and changing times.

We are all volunteers who have been engulfed by the Jaycee spirit and who engage in genuine involvement for our communities in the hope that we make our world a better place to live in. Nobody deserved to be hurt, unjustly criticized, subjected to vicious intrigues or even hailed to court. But I have also accepted the fact that it is all part of the territory. And if it will be our share in ensuring the success of our journey to change, so be it. The finest of diamonds come from the coarsest of stones.

The ability to acknowledge our irreconcilable positions is very hard and becoming rare amongst us. But it is necessary in strengthening our brotherly alliances and in furtherance of our common ideals. Just because it happened in the past or our predecessors have done it before does not necessarily make it right. The prejudices, parochial pride and biases show our membership that we are capable of accepting change and be its movers. It is a symbol more powerful that the bombs in Lamitan.

As in J.R.R. Tolkien's "The Lord of the Rings." We are like hobbits with a mission and we are called upon to be arbiters of change. We are the Frodos of our generation and NOW is our appointed time.

THE NATIONAL SECRETARIAT: MAKING SURE THAT "JC C.A.R.E.S." FOR YOU

by: JCI Sen. REGINALD T. YU
JCP National Secretary-General

In unity, there is strength enough to construct a colossus. From the foundation to the ridgepole, the parts reinforce and support one another to create a cathedral that will echo with the sounds of success. Junior Chamber of the Philippines prospers because of the synergism our members individually and collectively provide in building solidarity.

Teamwork is an overarching goal of your National Organization from the time we formally assumed office on January 1 this year. We believe that collective enthusiasm, motivation, and perseverance are the factors that separate success from failure. Among our diverse regional differences and responsibilities, there are teams that prove and promote this basic goal.

The past half-year of "JC C.A.R.E.S." was both challenging and exciting. We progressed steadily toward achieving your National Secretariat's goal to genuinely improving our services to our more than 6,500 members. Despite the nationwide economic crunch that continues to severely hinder many of our members' capacity to pay their dues in full and on time, the Office of the National Secretary-General has launched a number of innovative initiatives aimed to reach out to more LOMs in as many places as possible. Some of these pioneering projects include:

1. Enhancing the JCPEA Points System. We all know that most of our LOMs value their JCP 100% Efficiency Awards (JCPEA) Ranking, perhaps even more than the trophies they get during the annual awarding ceremonies at the Area Conferences and National Conventions. This year, your National Secretariat has streamlined the points system to make it more understandable to the ordinary member. Apart from the traditional points awarded to LOMs through the submission of reports, we have expanded the scope of its point system through the accomplishment of its newly-instituted projects, such as participation in the "Mula Sa Poso" project, the "Youth Smoking Prevention Program," the "JCP Billboard" project, and the "Young Leaders' Program," among many others. Your National Executive Director, Ramfel R. Preclaro (Marinduque Morion Jaycees) is personally leading the National Secretariat to tally and assess your LOMs' JCPEA points. In this page, you will find the top 50 LOMs who garnered the highest JCPEA scores as of June 30, 2002.

2. Relaunching the JCP Website. Cognizant of this year's thrust to establish a "paperless" communications system, your National Secretariat has strengthened its electronic communications facilities through a tie-up with Virtual Asia, one of the country's leading Internet Service Providers. Together with existing ISP Infobahn, the JCP has doubled its server capacity, resulting in more disk space for a more powerful webpage engine. Through the unparalleled commitment and efforts of National Webpage Chairmen, Tung Kai Huang (Makati Jaycees), and Al Michael T. Mendoza (Cagayan de Oro Jaycees), our official JCP Website has gone through a major reformatting and design program. Almost four months in the making, our website is now regularly being updated with the latest news from JCP, its LOMs, and Junior Chamber International, contains detailed information about JCP and its history, established a LOM Directory, as well as a first ever 24-hour On-line Bulletin Board section that links us to Filipino Jaycees around the globe! Don't take our word for it: visit us at www.philjaycees.com, and see the difference yourselves.

3. Innovating the Leader News Organ. Of course, nothing beats holding a good ol' news organ for easy reading anytime, anywhere. Perhaps no other tangible evidence of accomplishment for an organization is better seen than reading it from the horse's mouth, so to speak. In this regard, your National Secretariat has actively worked to achieve the following projects:

a) Leader Newsletter. We have revived our monthly four-page Leader Newsletter which has been coming up with fresh news every first week of the month since January of this year, without fail. Thanks to the dedicated efforts of our Editor-in-Chief Jonabelle R. Lee (Olongapo Jaycees), we are regularly being updated on the latest news, tidbits, and announcements from your National Headquarters.

b) Philippine Leader Magazine. Despite the apparent dearth of sponsors, largely due to hard times, our National Editorial Board, led by no less than our 1998 JCP National President and concurrent San Juan Mayor, Joseph Victor G. Ejercito, and assisted by equally esteemed heavyweights, 1998 and 2000 JCP National Secretaries-General, Victorina B. Bautista and Luisito P. Basilio, Jr., the first issue of our official news magazine hit the shelves before the simultaneous Area Conferences. Despite the delay, I'm sure you'd find the magazine worth the wait. Just read through the pages after my report and you'll be convinced that you've got a good issue in your hands.

c) Digital Leader Magazine. Since we are already deep into the digital information age, your National Secretariat has taken the initiative to spearhead the publication of its first-ever national news magazine in CD-ROM! Apart from the spruced-up version of our Philippine Leader Magazine, this version hopes to encapsulate all other vital information about the Jaycees, such as history, its raison de etre, the thrust of this year's theme, as well as pertinent documents, such as the JCP Constitution and By-laws, Policy Manuals, and Awards Manuals, all in downloadable digital format. Due to the ground-breaking nature of this project, your National Secretary-General is personally assuming a lead role in this undertaking. The maiden issue of the Digital Leader Magazine will hopefully be available during the 2002 National Convention in Naga City.

4. Improving Training and Communications Support. As we are very much aware of the positive impact of personalized service, this year's National Secretariat has made it a point to entertain and act upon all inquiries and requests of its 230-LOM constituency nationwide. In this regard, no less than the National Secretary-General is personally handling the daily correspondences through three major communications media: snail mail, electronic mail, and SMS (cellular inquiries). With as personal a service like this, the National Secretariat's image will hopefully establish a positive image as one which provides prompt and efficient service, even to the farthest and smallest of LOMs around our archipelago.

5. Sprucing up the official JCP Manuals. Last, but certainly not the least, your National Secretariat has begun an ambitious undertaking of reformatting many of its major documents and manuals into a cohesive, systematized look, reminiscent of professional corporate documents that enhance the image of our organization. This year, we have started revising the 2002 JCP Awards Manual and the "new format" will already be available to the judges for this year's Area Conventions. In the following months, we plan to overhaul the National Officers' College Manual, the library of National Board Minutes, and the publication of its first-ever National Orientation Primer. These accomplishments hope to plant the seeds for future maturation and growth, which will enable us to implement of myriad of plans that will include, among others, ambitious membership growth programs, installation of more relevant training modules, and the eventual renovation of our decrepit headquarters. All of these modest, but revolutionary steps will eventually enhance the value of our National Organization.

I always believed in the saying, "Where there is unity, there is victory." Junior Chamber of the Philippines' triumph this year could not have occurred without support in and out of our headquarters halls. On behalf of the leadership of the Junior Chamber of the Philippines, I extend my personal congratulations to you, the Filipino Jaycee member, who comprise this outstanding team we call the Philippine Jaycees, and continue to offer the invitation to you to make an investment in our future by continuing to support our National Administration's goals and visions for the next six months... and beyond.

NOM ACTIVITIES

BY: RAMFREL R. PRECLARO
2002 JCP National Executive Director

It was indeed a hectic and dynamic months for the 2002 National Board, Hereunder are the Junior Chamber of the Philippines' project which have already come to pass the nutshell or on its way for completion. The success of these projects could only have been ensured through the active participation of the LOMs. We still have half of three more months to implement other National Projects, I am therefore encouraging all the members to be part of the year 2002 JCP activities...

TOYM (The Outstanding Young Men of the Philippines)

If there is one award everyone dreams of winning, it's the TOYM! This annual project started in 1959. It aims to recognize the outstanding achievements of our nation's youths, achievements which have significantly benefited the community and the nation. Now on its 44th year, TOYM has become an institution, having developed a reputation for its selectiveness of outstanding young men upon whom the award is conferred. TOYM seeks to give national recognition to young men and women whose selfless dedication to their profession or vocation has resulted in significant contributions to the welfare of their countrymen and our country at large, as well as to the advancement of their respective fields of endeavor. The awardees who have become beacon lights of the nation totaling 359 by now, is literally a Philippine "Who's Who" in outstanding achievements in areas such as community service, arts, literature, journalism, education, law, politics, agriculture, science and technology, economics, banking, business, sports, government service and other fields of endeavors. This year's major sponsors are PLDT, Equitable-PCI Bank and Manila Bulletin in cooperation with the Gerry Roxas and TOYM Foundation. The 2002 National Project Chairman , JC Jocelle A. Pascual of the Katipunan "Katips" Jaycees, launched the project last May 10, 2002 at the Luna Function Room in The Rockwell Club, Makati City.

BEYOND PRISON WALLS

Conceptualized by Ambassador Ramon V. Del Rosario last January 16, 2002 during the courtesy call paid by this year's National Board. Inspired by this year's NOM Theme: "JC C.A.R.E.S.", they came up with "Adopt-A-Prison" project that aims to help alleviate the condition of local prisons, rehabilitation centers, and inmates; to create public awareness that not all prisoners are hardened criminals; and to provide opportunities to rehabilitated prisoners for smoother integration to normal life after their release. The project focuses on three major strategies such as Human Rights Advocacy to the Accused, Sports, Culture and Educational Program, and Livelihood Projects. In celebration of our Jaycee Week, the Beyond Prison Walls Project was launched last April 16, this series at the Navotas Municipal Library. The project is in cooperation with Caritas Manila through its Prison Justice Development Program (PJDP) and the Department of Interior and Local Government. JCI Sen. Randy Manoloto of Manila Jaycees chairs this National project.

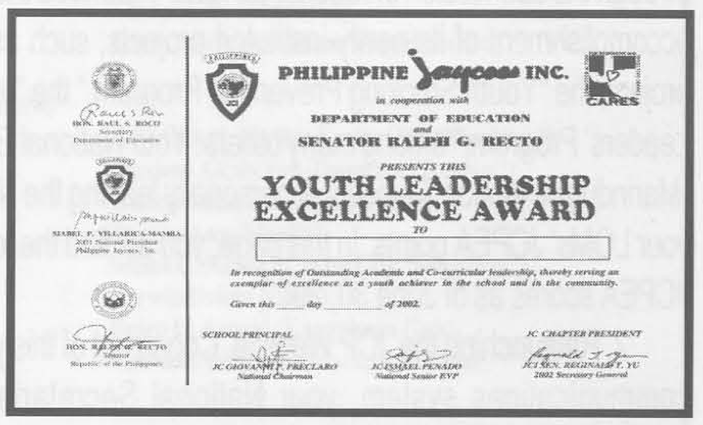

YSP-JCP JAYCEE CREED BILLBOARD

The Philippine Jaycees, Inc., in coordination with Philip Morris Philippines, Inc., gave away 200 pieces of JC Creed Billboard to all LOMs in good standing all throughout the five areas. In line with the Jaycee Week Celebration, various chapters started their one- week activities with the unveiling of the billboard. The billboards were sponsored by Philip Morris Phils. after the soft launching of the "Youth Smoking Prevention" with the Sangguniang Kabataan Federation of the Philippines last December 4, 2001 at the Imperial Suite in Quezon City.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP EXCELLENCE AWARD (YLEA)

Now on its 18th year, this annual activity started its implementation in 1985 under the term of Past National President Renato Batoon. Known before as the Presidential Youth Leadership Award, the undertaking aims to give recognition and inspire the recipients towards greater achievement in life. The Youth Leadership Excellence Award is a joint project of the Philippine Jaycees, Inc. and the Department of Education in cooperation with the office of Senator Ralph G. Recto. Given to the outstanding students of elementary and high school level in all public and private schools nationwide, this project was implemented last March 25 to 31, this series under its National Project Chairman JC Giovanni P. Preclaro of the Marinduque "Morion" Jaycees, Inc.

MULA SA POSO NI GLORIA

A revival of "Water for Life" project, "Mula sa Poso ni Gloria", is a brain child of no less than 2001 National President and JCI Sen. Jimmy T. Yaokasin, Jr.. Its objective is to put up water pumps in indigent communities deprived of potable water. This noble endeavor is funded by no less than Her Excellency President Gloria Macapagal – Arroyo through the Philippine Jaycees, Inc. and the National Youth Commission. The water wells which are dedicated to the communities are manifestation of the Jaycee tenet: "that service to humanity is the best work of life." JC Eloisa Laya of Antipolo "City Lights" Jaycees is the 2002 National Project Chairman.

JCI Sen. Jimmy T. Yaokasin, Jr.
Immediate Past National President

His scholastic wit and charismatic leadership made him worthy of being last year's National President. Having seen his potential when he joined the Candahug "Liberation" Jaycees in 1991, IPNP JImjim was assigned immediately to handle that same year's Area IV Conference as Areacon Director. His election as LOM President two (2) years later paved the way to an active and productive Jaycee career in both the national and international arenas. He served as National Vice President for Eastern Visayas in 1996, National Executive Vice President for Visayas Area in 1998, National Senior Executive Vice President in 1999 and National President and JCI Vice President for Area B in 2000.

A graduate of BBA Accountancy at the University of the Philippines Visayas, IPNP Jimjim used to serve as Commisioner for the National Youth Commission and is currently the President of UP Alumni Association in Tacloban City.

JAYCEE WEEK

The third week of every April ushers us to a nationwide celebration of the Jaycee Week. This annual activity is geared towards the promotion of the Jaycee movement nationwide along with our NOM Theme: Jaycee C.A.R.E.S. (Committed Action for Responsive and Effective Service). In order to create impact and public awareness on our existence in this "University of Leaders" where leadership is molded and at work, the 2002 National Project Chairman, JC Paul Dulatas of Meycauyan "Katad" Jaycees proposed a uniform line of activities conducted at the same time by all LOMs in the organization from April 15-21, 2002.

This year, under the leadership of NP Mabel P. Villarica – Mamba, new projects that are beneficial to the community were introduced for the implementation of all chapters such as Beyond Prison Wall, Youth Smoking Prevention, JC Creed Billboard, and Mula sa Poso ni Gloria, among others.

WORKING BEYOND THE CREED

BY: JCI SEN. HANORIO P. CHU
National Treasurer

"For more than fifty years, the Philippine Jaycees has been working in the midst of professionals and businessmen, training and urging them to strive for higher standards of excellence."

Your 2002 National Board has inaugurated a vision of establishing a legacy of member and community oriented administration as a response to the needs of the times. This purpose can be gleaned on the JC FY2002 budget that gives primordial consideration to leadership development through appropriate and relevant trainings and responsive community service.

Bridging the financial gap – brought about by our earnest common desire to be of relevant service to all LOMs – has been a continuing challenge. It is in this light that I would like to thank all LOMs who have in one way or another, helped my task easier by paying their annual obligations early. This simple gesture (payment of dues), is an affirmation of our collective and shared aspiration for a better and more dynamic National Organization.

It is truly a special moment for each and one of us when we are conferred the distinction and recognized as a member of the only leadership organization in the world – Junior Chamber. Let us reassure this.

A proud member of the General Santos "Twin Star" Jaycees where he served as LOM President in 1997, NT Hans aims to review and establish a sound financial policy for the national organization through the T.E.A.M. (Transparency, Efficiency, Affiliation, and Marketing) Approach. At 34, he is engaged in pharmaceutical, laboratory, office supplies, and consumer products distribution. He is also active in other non-government organizations such as Rotary Club and Filipino-Chinese Chamber of Commerce.

Angeles "Culiat" Jaycees: Stronger at 50

What defines the strength of an organization? Is it the number of luminaries it has produced or the number of years it has survived?

Truly, the Angeles "Culiat" Jaycees passed both criteria. Now, on its 50 years of leadership development, the Angeles "Culiat" Jaycees has made itself a reputation as one of the most popular, active, and strong Jaycee chapters in the Philippines.

This accomplishment was celebrated with a weeklong event called, "50 Years Iyas Ning Capampangan 1952-2002). The celebration was carried out with the following activities:

January 27, 2002 — The golden anniversary celebration opened with a kick off mass at the Nepo Business Center and a motorcade along the major thoroughfares of Angeles City.

TOPP:
SIMPLY OUTSTANDING ON ITS 35TH YEAR

By: JCI Sen. LOUIE P. BASILIO
Manila Jaycees

Stupendous, marvelous, terrific, excellent, exceptional and even dazzling are only some of the synonyms of being outstanding. Outstanding usually involves an out of the ordinary achievement, performance way above par. For The Outstanding Policemen of the Philippines (TOPP), the operative term means a commitment to selfless service, beyond one's responsibility, jurisdiction, and the call of duty. These best describe the winners of TOPP 2001.

Organizing the project was as difficult as it can get specially since it was my first time into the limelight. But it wasn't as hard as the judges we invited to pick the so called crème de la crème. Out of the more than 100 eligible nominees last year, the Screening Committee only approved 60 commissioned (officers with rank from Inspector to Superintendent) and non-commissioned officers (police officers with rank of PO1 to SPO4) into the second phase. All eligible nominees were asked to produce a scrapbook of their achievements. Though the working committee outlined a 20 page maximum, voluminous addendum and proof had to be attached in order to claim to the truth of the matter. Thus producing highly detailed logbooks and recantations of their achievements. All nominees were subjected to an intensive background check. Nominees names had to be cleared with seven agencies- The Office of the Ombudsman for the Military, the Commission on Human Rights, the People's Law Enforcement Board, Internal Affairs, National Bureau of Investigation, PNP's CIDG, and the National Police Commission. Any pending or unresolved blemish was grounds for their nomination to be further evaluated if they were to advance to the next stage. In the long run, only 20 of the officers advanced to the Final stages of the search broken down to four (4) commissioned officers, and 16 non-commissioned officers, four (4) each from Luzon, Visayas, Mindanao and the National Capital Region. Further surprise tests were given to establish credibility before their presentation to the Final Board of Judges. The Final Board of Judges was tasked to pick whom they felt are worthy of the title The Outstanding Policemen of the Philippines from among the finalists. Media personalities, non-profit organization representatives, businessmen, politicians, clergy, and the academe formed the Final Board of Judges. Deedee Siytangco of the Manila Bulletin, Paul Schaefer of the Hanns Siedel Foundation, Congressman JJ Romualdo and Atty. Lilia Garcia of the Philippine Normal University formed the committee while Brother Rolando Dizon, President of De La Salle University sat as the Chairman of the Board of Judges. As they say, the rest is history.

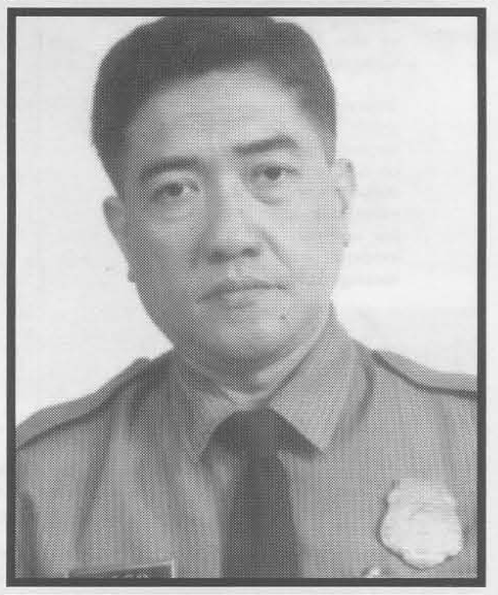

The completion of the project leaves a bittersweet feeling. It was quite a pleasure to note that the Team TOPP 2001 was able to find Ten (10) truly worthy individuals to carry the title as The Outstanding Policemen of the Philippines for 2001. It was a frustrating note that we cannot award them all. Our treks around the country, interaction amongst the rank and file of the Philippine National Police and the dealings with various offices opened our eyes that there are a lot more who are truly eligible for the award. It was just sad to note that a few bad apples are affecting those who have given their entire lives for the service of the Filipino people, protecting our rights as citizens of the Philippines and upholding integrity and truth in their positions. Unfortunately, we live in a society where we see the glass as being half empty instead of being half filled. It is quite a shame that cops swayed to the side of illegalities hog up the limelight. But the working committee of TEAM TOPP 2001 fought long and hard to let the general public know that the glass is filled more than they think they know. This is the primary reason why a majority of the team members are again with TEAM TOPP 2002. We are again given the rare opportunity to be of service to the Jaycee organization, the Philippine National Police and to the Filipino people by way of this Project. We are again challenged to look for the crème de la crème among the ranks of the police. We will again be given the opportunity to inform the general public that there aren't a few good men in the PNP Service- it is actually a majority.

2002 serves as a banner year. Not only because we will be celebrating the 35th Anniversary of The Outstanding Policemen of the Philippines but because we have made adjustments and amendments to the composition of the Team. September 16 shall see the formal launching of TOPP during the flag raising ceremonies at Camp Crame with no less than PNP Chief and Director General Hermogenes Ebdane and DILG Secretary and JCI Sen. Jose D. Lina, Jr. Mirant Philippines has decided to identify with our endeavour as our Presentor while The Manila Bulletin has committed to be the Search's Broadcast partner. More strategic alliances are being forged as of this writing in order to provide a comprehensive package for the awards. But there are more things that have not changed. We shall again travel around the country looking for these police officers who possess the qualities of being outstanding in their own particular fields of endeavour. We shall again launch it in the Visayas and Mindanao. We are again committed to informing the general public the best we know how. We are again committed to recognize those who truly deserve the recognition and the limelight who have exemplified the selfless service TOPP has been known for in the last 35 years. We are committed to building the nation through this small step.

As they say, it's better to be late than never. Though this award comes in the latter stages of the JC fiscal year, the committee together with the support of the National Board have decided to implement this the correct way rather than applying hasty methods which we will later on regret. Furthermore, we have made the conscious decision to implement the project the best we know how, the Jaycee way. We are hoping you will support us in our venture.

Philippines Conquers Spain

(WP Salvi Batlle's Philippine Visit)

By: JCI Sen. LOUIE P. BASILIO
Manila Jaycees

World President meets the Republic's President. JCI World President and JCI Sen. Salvador Battle meets with Philippine President Gloria Macapagal- Arroyo during the inauguration of the Philippine Jaycee Project "Mula sa Poso ni Gloria" providing potable water to far flung areas in the country.

In my limited Jaycee experience I have been given the opportunity to meet the JCI World Presidents since my induction as a regular Jaycee in 1997. JCI Sen. Crispin Dy, being a Filipino is a good story teller and was instrumental in convincing me to go to my first World Congress in Hawaii. JCI Sen. Petri Niskanen in 1998 exhumed an image of having fun in his short stint as World President. An attribute necessary in voluntary organizations, Yung Sok Choi in 1999 to me was the "Get down get to work" President. Millenium World President Karyn Bisdee on the other hand was the great motivator urging me to achieve greater heights. JCI Sen. Georges Bouverrat last year was the ultimate traveler. I thought I saw all kinds of World Presidents already until I met 2002 World President JCI Sen. Salvi Battle.

Hailing from Spain, JCI Sen. Salvi was elected unanimously during the Barcelona World Congress in his home country. Enough about his past credentials and accomplishments. Any Jaycee can download and view his resume from the JCI Website. But during his brief stay with us here in the Philippines from April 11,2002 to April 15,2002 World President Salvi presented a different side.

WP Salvi looked real square in his dark blue suit upon his arrival at the Philippine Airlines terminal. Looking tired, he managed to give the welcoming delegation a smile and a warm greeting. Immediately you can tell that the guy has a warm side. Why? The mere fact that one can still have the energy to grant LOM Presidents and National Board officers their wish for a Kodak moment after a long plane ride is testament to either extreme patience or just mere enjoyment. Mind you, Jaycees don't just bring one camera. That time, we wanted to find out which of the two was applicable. Flash after flash, WP Salvi didn't even break a sweat. In fact, he even gained a sense of humor about it.

The World President Salvi had a long day ahead and demanded a great deal of energy. It included an Area Grand General Membership Meeting hosted by the Manila Jaycees in historic Intramuros. Still he was formal, but this time in a Barong. The guy with the highest post in the organization shared the programs and ideals of the Junior Chamber International. Well, it was almost similar with all the other programs of previous World Presidents. No offense meant, but it takes a real while for JCI programs to be disseminated to NOMS and further down to members themselves. One had to take the opportunity to or else he would have been remiss of his duties. Prior to his arrival he had an informal request to experience the Jaycee movement in a more casual setting. His wish was granted. World President Salvi loosened his tie a bit during the Area Fellowship at Chef and Brewer. There he was introduced to hundreds more of Metro Area Jaycees partying the night away. It was a perfect venue for him to see what makes the Philippine Jaycees truly rich. Obviously it wasn't on the monetary sense but more on how different Jaycees from different chapters of a variety of backgrounds can can get together and simply gel. Little did he know that we too were also trying to crack Salvi the person- beyond the title of World President.

Philippine President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo (right) inaugurates Poso project as JCI Sen. RP Dragon, 2002 Philippine Jaycee National President Mabel Villarica-Mamba, 2001 National President Jimjim Yaokasin, and Governor Ayong Malicsi look on.

It was a Presidential visit to Presidents. WP Salvi was given the opportunity to meet with President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo as they launched the Mula Sa Poso Project of the Philippine Jaycees, providing potable water to areas that need it. Thus, elevating his visit from social call status to that of being part of providing life and livelihood. But personally I think that his most touching visit was when WP Salvi paid a courtesy call to 1952 World President and Ambassador Ramon Del Rosario in the latter's office. Amidst the luxury of Rockwell and the skyline of Makati they conversed on the Jaycees of yesterday, today and their views on the Jaycee tomorrow. They further engaged in a colloquy of their term as World Presidents with the elder imparting timeless advice- a clear testament of his yearning for learning of things done in the past in order for him to forge ahead into the future.

There were far many more activities JCI World President was involved in and many important Jaycee dignitaries visited. During his short stint in the Philippines, he was able to visit quite a number of LOMS from a variety of regions and areas. It's just too many to enumerate. I guess a group of us instantaneously felt at ease with the World President since most instances he stepped out of function rooms for some "oxygen." Some need the convincing ability of a bottle of beer to open up.

breaker. He loves the Philippines. Salvi's first visit was during the 1998 World Congress here in Manila. In his own words, he described it as "What a party!" He further noted that the Philippines was his home away from home. The Philippines and Spain share a lot of cultures, traditions and beliefs. What he truly enjoyed is our zeal for enjoyment, our passion for good food, and the ability to laugh at the simplest of things. It was like we were an extension of his host NOM. He then explained that these are some of the contributions of the Philippine Jaycees to the international umbrella organization. We bring about a different freshness into the organization, a different sense of excitement and dynamism. And here I was thinking that it was only our annual dues. Well, I'm sure that is part of it but it is nice and heartwarming to know that it is also something beyond.

Salvi's views of the Jaycee organization are not as simple as it seems. The World President hopes that all NOMS get out of the membership rut that most of us, if not all, are in, hoping that more and more of the youth are exposed to the experience. Details, details, details! We went into a web of details as to how he planned to make his dream a reality. But all I can say conclude was that it was enlightening to note that we have someone "semi our own" up there who have come from humble Jaycee beginnings who share the same selfless vision and mission of elevating the Jaycee organization to greater heights. His ascension to the highest JC post in the land is nothing short of remarkable. But it wasn't as grand as his dreams are for the organization.

2003 is just around the corner and World President Salvi Battle's term is about to culminate. A mere Jaycee like me wonders if these dreams of elevating the organization to greater heights can actually be realized. Not to mention if his successor will be bold enough to share his vision, sentiments and passion in taking strides towards such a worthy goal instead of being consumed by mediocrity. It makes me even wonder if there is a Jaycee whom we can call "our very own" can take on the same challenges of being a World President as Salvi did. As I wonder even more, I realize that Salvi's gift to the Philippines was that of hope. Hope that there is someone in the JCI hierarchy who still dreams the grand dreams. Who knows, we may just well enough achieve it. In due time of course.

Oh yes! Incidentally, during a game of Truth or Consequence- Jaycee style played with the World President, a select group of Area 1 and 2 Jaycees were able to unearth the most intimate of details about who Salvi Battle is. And mind you, I do mean intimate. But its quite sad to note that I promised not to write about it. Then again, I'm sure it would have been far too graphic and sensual for me get away with including it in my article. As they say, it's for us to know and you to find out.

Viva! Las Vegas 2002

57th JCI World Congress: The Heat is On!

After the very successful and well-attended 52nd Asia-Pacific Conference in Sendai, Japan the previous month, the Philippine Jaycees are once again expected to dash in commendable number during the forthcoming 57th JCI World Congress on November 24-28, 2002 at the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada, USA.

To fill everyone's enthusiasm, the Vegas Congress Organizing Committee offers a truly tempting package to make each one's involvement more convenient and memorable. Registration fee is pegged at US$400, however, US$50 worth of discount will be conferred to early bird registrants provided that payment and complete application requirements were submitted on or before September 15, 2002. Payment may be done through wire transfer (for 20 registrants or more only), credit card, or bank money order/ draft. The Vegas Congress Organizing Committee will provide personal invites to those who will request it provided that the registration fee will be paid directly to them prior to the release of the said document.

To stir up everyone's excitement further, the World Congress 2002 Organizing Committee has arranged a competitive accommodation package with MGM Grand Hotel— the lowest World Congress room rates in recent history! Delegates are offered with exceptionally low deluxe room rates of US$109 (plus 9% tax) per night for double occupancy (two adults in one room) and US$25 each for the third and fourth additional adults, with no charge for children below 12 years old sharing a room with an adult. This group package is offered until October 22, 2002 only.

One night's fee must be paid at that time to ensure reservation. Bungalow, Celebrity Spa, and Hollywood Suites are also available in the JCI group room block at higher rates.

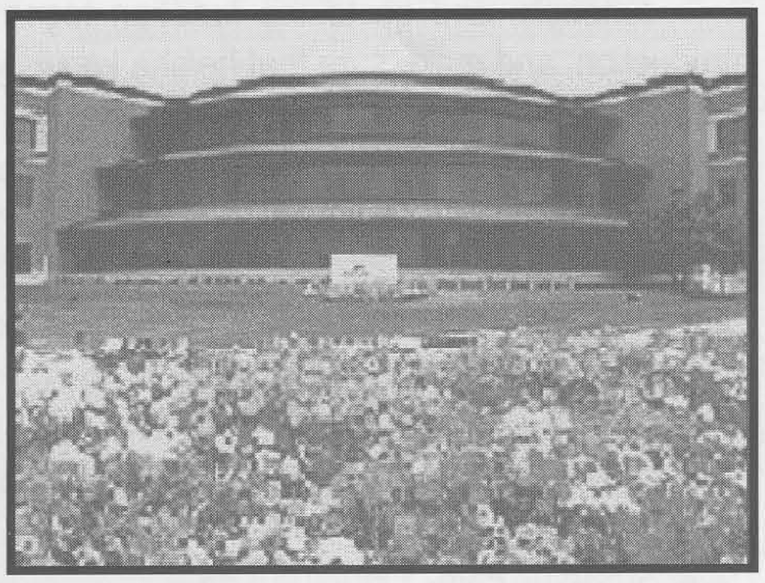

The arrangement for those who have paid the registration fee but have been denied with the US VISA will be clarified later. More so, other details such as travel, visa arrangements, and Philippine activities are still being worked out.

The Philippine Jaycees, Inc. is currently negotiating with various travel agencies and airlines to avail of competitive airline rates and favorable flight schedules. Meanwhile, it is best to work on your US VISA application as well as your passport and other work-related concerns to ensure a more unperturbed trip in November.

A preliminary survey form has been dispersed to determine the number of members who are interested in joining this year's World Congress and who among them holds valid US VISA on November 2002. Upon receipt of the survey response on July 20, 2002, the Philippine Jaycees, Inc. shall send application forms, brochures, and other detailed information about the event. Road show presentations and informal meetings will also be conducted in all five (5) areas within the months of July and August.

JCI is Opening a Temporary Headquarters in St. Louis

Following the historic directive of the 2001 Barcelona World Congress General Assembly, JCI is opening a temporary headquarters in Chesterfield Village, an area renowned for its beautiful landscaping (see photo), in St. Louis, Missouri.

The temporary headquarters will operate there until the permanent new headquarters is built in Chesterfield Village in 8 to 10 months. The temporary 4000-square-foot office space was offered to JCI in a short-term lease until the new headquarters is completed.

A Generous Donation

Louis Sachs, a benefactor specializing in land development, is helping JCI build its new headquarters in its birthplace city by donating nearly two acres of land in Chesterfield Village.

The donation, worth nearly US$2 million, is the largest gift Junior Chamber has ever received. An architect has been engaged to design the new headquarters. JCI will build a one-story, 10,000-square-foot edifice, designed with open spaces and flexibility to meet the organization's current and future needs in the Third Millennium.

When the new Headquarters opens, JCI will purchase new computers, 2003 software, a new server, and new office furniture.

Managing the Mingling

Preparing Yourself for the Function

• Step 1- Adopt a Positive Attitude. Your attitude about the function will make a big difference. Go to the function with a positive attitude and you will have an enjoyable time. Be enthusiastic and take your smile with you.

• Step 2- Focus on the Benefits of the Function. Write down the benefits of attending the function on a card or on the invitation and read them daily prior to attending the function. This will help you to be positive about attending the event.

• Step 3- Plan your Self-Introduction. Plan an introduction that tells people who you are. It does not need to be a long introduction. 10 seconds is sufficient. State your name and something about yourself that tells people in a positive manner who you are.

• Step 4- Check your Business Cards. A business card is a way for people to remember you after the function is over. Cards provide your name, company name, the position that you hold, and a contact number for the future.

• Step 5- Prepare your Small Talk. The aim of small talk is to make people feel comfortable in a group. It should not be used to take over the conversation or simply to impress people. Have at least three (3) small talk topics prepared.

• Step 6- Prepare your Conversation. Read the newspaper everyday. This is the best way to increase your knowledge. Even if you are attending functions in a different state or overseas, try to read some local news. Read newspapers and minutes of the organization whose function you are attending. This will keep you updated on the happenings of that organization. Take note of what other people say and take notes from items that you see or hear on other programs such as the news or comedy shows.

• Step 7- Good Eye Contact and a Smile. Good eye contact is important at a function. Look directly at the person and smile. Always be sincere; people will see through you if you are not sincere. Be interested in what the person is saying. Don't look around the room to see who might be more important than the person you are conversing with. Treat the person you are talking to as the most important person you met today.

• Step 8- The Handshake. Practice your handshake prior to attending the function. Be confident and display a firm handshake. Avoid a limp handshake, a "knuckle breaker", a "finger squeeze", or a covered handshake.

PRIOR PLANNING PREVENTS POOR PERFORMANCE. You will find the task of attending the function a lot easier if you're prepared beforehand. Do your homework!

Attending the Function

• Strategy One- Arriving at the Function

Arrive at the function on time. Don't make a bad impression by being late. There is no such thing as being fashionably late. Take a deep breath, stand tall, and walk into the room. Look around the room and see where the foods and drinks are located. Have a look around for someone that you know and head for that person. If you don't see someone you know, look for a friendly face and introduce yourself.

• Strategy Two- The Buddy System

Find a buddy- someone you know who will be attending the function- and go to the function together. Know your buddy's introduction, and make sure that he/she knows yours.

• Strategy Three- Time to Move On

Look for the quiet person who is probably clutching a drink and is probably as scared as you are. Take a deep breath, make eye contact with the person, smile, and introduce yourself.

• Strategy Four- Using Nametags to your Advantage

Use nametags to either find out something about the person or to remember a name that was on the tip of your tongue. Attach your nametag to the right hand side of your clothing. This allows the other person to you to see your nametag.

• Strategy Five- Opening Lines

Smile first and say hello. Take a statement, ask a question, or mention something about yourself to initiate the conversation.

• Strategy Six- Listen Actively

An active listener is someone who hears what the other person is saying and can ask questions that indicate interest in the topic being discussed.

• Strategy Seven- Breaking and Entering a Conversation

Look for groups of three (3) or more. Don't intrude on conversations where two (2) people look intent and engrossed in a conversation. Approach the group, smile, and wait for the group to involve you in the conversation. Then take part in the conversation after they have allowed you into the group.

• Strategy Eight- Moving on to Another Group

Circulating is the name of the game if you wish to meet new people. Move out of the conversation by excusing yourself to gather more food, or to refresh your drink. Once you have moved on, obtain your food or drink, and approach another group.

DO'S

1. Reply to the function and show up on time.
2. Be open to other benefits of attending the function that you had and not previously considered.
3. Prepare yourself for the function.
4. Be positive about attending the function.
5. Take along enough business cards.
6. Follow up with the people you promised to contact.
7. Be enthusiastic and smile.
8. Dress properly.
9. Bring along your sense of humor.
10. Treat each other as the most important person you have met today.
11. Laugh at yourself.
12. Introduce people that you know to the group.
13. Listen actively.
14. Meet as many people as you can.
15. Have a great time.
16. Send a thank-you note after the function.

DON'TS

1. Don't smoke if you can avoid it.
2. Don't drink excessively.
3. Don't sit down.
4. Don't put people down.
5. Don't use racist, sexist, or other distasteful and offensive forms of humor.
6. Don't be afraid to laugh.
7. Don't forget your business cards.
8. Don't get caught in the same conversation for the entire night.
