Message from Patron

Each year, the selection of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons gives recognition to those who have made a special contribution to our society and provides an incentive to others to strive hard in their various professions. The outstanding young men and women chosen have great collective wisdom and strength, and it is they and people like them that have made Hong Kong what it is today, and will build the Hong Kong of tomorrow.

I congratulate them. I should also like to thank the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce for their work in organising this selection.

Message from Judges

It has been a great pleasure for me to be a Member of the Judging Panel for 1986.

As for last year, the standard of candidates was extremely high but the judges continued to apply stringent criteria. We were looking for young persons who has not only advanced a long way in terms of their jobs, but had also found the time to contribute significantly to the welfare of the community in other respects.

The candidates who were not chosen this year should not give up. If they develop their lives on the lines the judges are looking for, they will stand a good chance of being selected in the coming years.

D.G. Jeaffreson
Secretary for Security

The annual exercise of the Hong Kong Jaycees to pick out ten outstanding young persons from over 5 million inhabitants is indeed a worthwhile project. These young people from various fields of work have demonstrated exceptional achievements for development of the community. Their selection thus encourages others in their respective fields to do better and follow their footsteps.

I feel privileged to have the chance to participate in their selection during the past three years. Talking to the candidates has broadened my horizon and made me feel proud to realise we have such distinguished citizens amongst us in Hong Kong.

Message from JCI World President

Congratulations to the winners of the Outstanding Young Person(s) of the Hong Kong TOYP Award. It takes a lot of courage, determination, time, and positive mental attitude for one to be outstanding.

The honorees at this function are good examples to the rest of us that we can be successful. Human being was designed for success. We may not all be as outstanding as these people, but we can be outstanding in our own little ways.

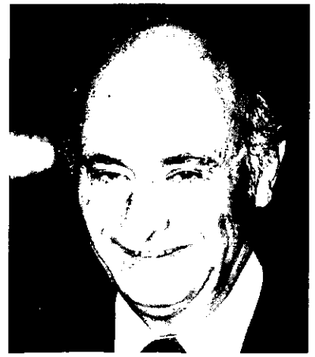

These young people have braved the conditions that surround them to achieve great success in their respective fields. They faced the same temptations, and problems that most of us face, but they were strong enough to set priorities and make the necessary sacrifices. Well done, young people of Hong Kong!

Recognition is a great source of motiviation. I hope that this occasion will encourage everyone to go out and try harder.

May peace be with you all.

Moncef Barouni
1986 World President

Message from HKJC Hon. Life President

Hong Kong acclaims each year the achievements of ten outstanding young persons.

It is not only the recognition of extraordinary individual success through meritorious hard-work and sustained self-discipline that the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce celebrates. It is also intended that such personal success and the good that it does to the community too, should be made known far and wide in this territory for other young persons to emulate in their turn.

While congratulating those deservedly selected for these top awards in 1986, the work done by many thousands of young men and women to make Hong Kong that it is and to ensure that the community will continue to thrive and forge ahead should also be encouraged and commended.

Message from Selection Consultant

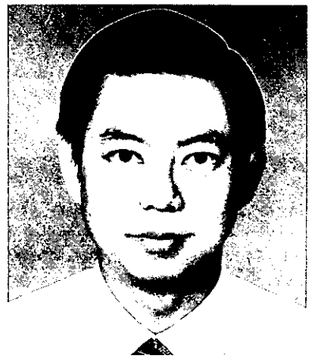

I welcome this opportunity to extend my sincere congratulations to this year's winners of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Award. They have each demonstrated tremendous enthusiasm, energy and determination in their service to the community as well as in their own areas of work. Moreover, the standards of excellence they have set will serve as an inspiration to those around them.

My praise must also go to the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce whose organisation of this project has again been magnificent. The unselfish, hardworking efforts of the organisers have enabled the achievements of Hong Kong's young men and women to receive the public recognition they deserve and, by doing so, encourage others to follow suit.

Message from Chairman of TOYPA

The guests at the TOYP award presentation may be interested in knowing some criteria of the TOYP selection in Hong Kong that differ from those in other countries. While all TOYP selections demand outstanding personal achievement from the candidates, the selection panel in Hong Kong further demands major contribution to society and significant endeavours outside of one's main job as prerequisites for award. Several candidates this year have made spectacular successes in their own professions. These candidates are undoubtedly important citizens of Hong Kong, but they have not been selected for the TOYP award for lack of service to community and lack of contribution outside their own professions.

Demand of contribution to society as a criterion of award brings particular significance when one remembers that the TOYP award automatically makes the recipient eligible for membership with the Outstanding Young Persons' Association (TOYPA). TOYPA prides itself in the excellent contribution it persistently makes towards the Hongkong community through co-operative efforts of its members. This year, the standing of TOYPA is highlighted by its large membership in the Legislative Council of Hong Kong (total of 10). The Association's standing is further enhanced by the distinguished patronage of HE the Governor, Sir Edward Youde, granted this year.

It is demand of concurrent outstanding achievement and social contribution that gives the panel of judges immense pleasure in presenting this year's successful candidates to the public.

CHEUNG CHE KWOK

"I SHALL CONTINUE WITH MY EFFORT IN PROMOTING THE CHINESE LANGUAGE THEATRE TO THE MASSES BOTH LOCALLY AND INTERNATIONALLY IN ORDER TO LIVE UP TO THE DEMANDING ROLE OF AN OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSON."

Mr. Cheung Che-kwok's professional integrity, dedication, and many talents have impressed not only those who have had the pleasure to know him, but also those who have seen his work. He has packed into his young life such knowledge and experience that would last others a lifetime.

As a first year undergraduate at the Hong Kong Baptist College in 1969, he began working for the network as a part-time actor and scriptwriter. On graduating with a Diploma in Mass Communications, he continued to work in the television industry for some ten years starting as an Executive Producer and finished off as an Assistant Controller. As a young aspiring drama producer, several of his productions, including his successful portrayal of Emperor Kiang-shu in "Sorrows of the Forbidden City", were among the toprated TV programmes. He had broken new ground and heralded and encouraged a new breed of young and dynamic producers to follow in his footsteps.

His goal was at that time, and still is, to promote Chinese language theatre to the masses. Always ready to broaden his knowledge, and never afraid of challenges, he formed his own play production company without any support. Within 2 years, he had produced five plays before a total audience in excess of 80,000. His productions have not only been a success locally, but have proven popular overseas.

Many of his productions, including those in Singapore and Broadway, are charity performances. Through his selfless fund-raising efforts he has made life a little more cheerful and comfortable for the old, the infirmed and the handicapped.

In 1985 Mr Cheung made a commitment to set aside his work to further his academic and artistic skills in the United Kingdom. He returned this year to take up his post as Head of Directing at the Academy of Performing Arts. He trains young actors and directors and hopes that his students will continue to improve the theatre activities and standard in Hong Kong.

Hong Kong is indeed proud to be home to Cheung Che-kwok for his impeccable character is a shining example for others to emulate.

The 1986 Awardees

FAN SAI YEE

"I FEEL THAT THE OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS AWARD IS TOO GREAT AN HONOUR FOR ME, HOWEVER, I AM PLEASED AND HONOURED TO RECEIVE SUCH A DISTINGUISHED AWARD".

Fan Sai Yee graduated from the Hong Kong Technical College in 1966 and joined Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. as an audit clerk. He continued studying at the evening Technical College and qualified as a Chartered Secretary in 1971.

In 1976, Sai Yee started his own practice with just one junior clerk in a small office in Wanchai. To reduce the burden of the first few years, Sai Yee lectured part-time at the Baptist College and Lingnan College. His confidence and perserverance paid off, and his company has grown steadily since it's inception, to it's present work force of thirty-four staff. The firm now serves over five hundred overseas and local clients, providing auditing, taxation, secretarial, and other professional services. His firm is also the Hong Kong representative of an International Associateship which links twenty leading firms worldwide.

Mr. Fan contributes significantly to the promotion of business administration among young executives. As a member of the Institute of Business Administration, registered in Australia, he participates in forums to exchange information and experiences on the principles and practice of business administration in Hong Kong. He and his committee have plans to introduce the Institute to Chinese executives in Shenzhen and if successful, the Institute will probably be the first overseas professional institute to accept students in China. This is seen as beneficial in the promotion of China's relationship to Australia.

Mr. Fan joined the Lions Club in 1976, and in 1979, became the Club's youngest President. Apart from his monetary donations and community work, Mr. Fan concluded a sisterhood alliance with the Lions Club of Bangkok. He is also a member of a number of Government Advisory Committees, such as the Consumer Council, Transport Advisory Committee, and the Criminal Injuries Board. Mr. Fan acts as Honorary Auditor for a number of service organisations, providing free auditing and other services.

Mr. Fan's continuous service to the community, notwithstanding the increase in work in his professional practice is appreciated by many people, and he most certainly deserves the TOYP award.

The 1986 Awardees

LAM KWONG YU

"AS A MEMBER OF THE PRINTING INDUSTRY, I AM HAPPY THAT MY SUCCESS IN THIS YEAR'S TOYP SELECTION HAS HELPED TO PROMOTE THE IMAGE OF THE INDUSTRY POSITIVELY"

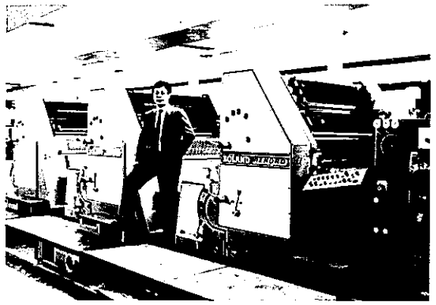

Lam Kwong Yu was born into a fairly affluent family in Guandong, however, the political turmoil in the Country cost his father his life, and for young Kwong Yu, years of hard labour at the Da Pang Bay Camp. In 1963, Kwong Yu, together with a friend, swam across the bay to Hong Kong to begin his new life in our free society.

Kwong Yu secured a job in a small printing factory where he learnt the trade whilst studying part-time to complete his secondary education. By 1970, he had saved a modest amount to start his own business and within five years, business had grown under his careful management. In 1980, Kwong Yu took a risk in buying some new machinery which no one else in the industry was willing to try and succeeded in upgrading the quality of production. His investments in machinery indicated unquestioned self-confidence and this catapulted his company into the big league of the Hong Kong printing industry. His example influenced competitors to reinvest their profits into the improvement of quality and this has had a tremendous impact on the image of Hong Kong's printing industry.

Mr. Lam often arranges lectures and seminars for printers to expand and improve their knowledge. He recently launched a press campaign on the importance of modern equipment in packaging and printing to stimulate better quality control. Lam Kwong Yu is the founder of the Printing Publication and Training Fund which provides a scholarship for an open competition on package design.

Mr. Lam is also committed to the betterment of Hong Kong's community and currently holds key positions in various voluntary organisations. In 1980, as President of the Y's Men's Club, he was involved in fund-raising for the Club's Centre for the Deaf.

Lam Kwong Yu's readiness to serve the community through both his profession and charity work makes him shine out among the crowd for he is most certainly, an outstanding individual.

The 1986 Awardees

MAK LOK SUN

"I AM GLAD THAT MY COMMITMENT TO SOCIAL SERVICES IS RECOGNISED AND IT IS ONLY NATURAL THAT I ACCEPT THIS AWARD WITH GREAT HONOUR"

During his fifteen years of involvement with social services, Mak Lok Sun has proved to be a dedicated social worker and a pioneer for the betterment of the welfare of Hong Kong's youths.

Orphaned at the age of fifteen, Lok Sun had to work part-time and finished his secondary education with scholarships and financial support from various sources. Grateful for the generous support he received, Lok Sun was conscious of his obligation to offer help to those in need. With this aspiration, he joined the Boys' and Girls' Club Association on graduating from the Chinese University.

He was an innovator for the development of the BCGA children's library service, years before the Urban Council's children's libraries came into being and carried out the task of re-classifying the catalogue for simplified administration and easy reference.

Mr. Mak shows keen interest in the promotion of children's arts, and in 1971, made an unprecedented attempt to launch an outdoor children's drawing competition. From the mid-70's, he began to organise, annually, with Radio Hong Kong, the "Children's Speech Contest". He was responsible for the forming of the first children drama group, offering formal training to members, and the staging of some children drama performances in Hong Kong. These activities inspired the government and other social groups to organise similar functions later.

In 1973, Mak Lok Sun devoted one year's leisure time to the study of harmful effects of "Sex and Violence" depicted in children's comic books, and successfully advocated the enactment of the Objectionable Publications Ordinance.

Mr. Mak's achievements have been widely recognised and has been invited to sit on the board of a large number of advisory bodies including the Kwun Tong District Board Social Services Committee, the Youth Services Coordinating Committee of the HK Council of Social Services, and the TVB Children Program Advisory Board.

Mr. Mak sees his TOYP award as a new channel for him to identify the needs of young people and serve the community.

TAM SHE GUN

"AS A RECIPIENT OF THE OUTSTANDING YOUNG PERSONS AWARD, I SHALL ASSUME FULL RESPONSIBILI TO OFFER MY BEST EFFORT TO IMPROVE THE WELL-BEING OF HONG KONG".

Mr. Tam She Gun was born into a poor family in the late forties and he had to support his family at the age of 9. Despi his young age, his determination to continue his education and improve his life was overwhelming. Without any support from his family, and often without a bed to sleep in, Mr Tam continued his studies whilst taking part time jobs in upholstery and cooking. He not only completed his secondary education, but came top in his class in his final year the Victoria Technical School.

He joined the Hong Kong Technical Collegefor his tertiary education, again supporting himself by taking part-time jobs at the College canteen, and by giving private tuition to school children. He complemented his active mind with healthy sports during these years and again excelled in his studies.

In 1978, Mr Tam joined the Hong Kong Polytechnic as Careers Counsellor. He continued to take an interest in the welfare and education of youths and is currently Education Officer with the Vocational Training Council. He has been responsible for all aspects of the planning and development of three technical institutes.

Mr Tam is a member of several organisations and his contributions are diversified. As a former President of the Hong Kong Institute of Industrial Engineers, he organizes continued educational programmes for practising engineers and organized a mobile library, work camps, and free entertainment for the under-privileged in remote villages.

Mr Tam recently organized a seminar for factory managers in Shum Chun to promote technological exchange between Hong Kong and China.

Mr Tam's achievements are a result of hard work. He is dedicated to the well being of the majority and continued prosperity of Hong Kong. He has been given and made use of opportunities to better himself and to fulfill many goals and will continue to set an example for the youths of Hong Kong in order to measure up to his reputation as a professional and an outstanding young person.

Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection

INTRODUCTION

The history of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection dated back to 1938 when the American Jaycees introduced this project to its community. Result proved that many of their receipients had become eminent figures later in their career including their late President John F. Kennedy and his successor Richard Nixon.

Prompted by the overwhelming success of this project overseas, Hong Kong Jaycees organized our very first Selection in 1970 under the patronage of his Excellence the Governor of Hong Kong. The selection had become an annual project of the HK Junior Chamber since and it is now in its 14th year of history.

SELECTION CRITERIA

The candidate's personal achievement in his/her area of work/interest and his/her contribution to the community constitute the major criteria for consideration in the selection of the TOYP awardees.

PRELIMINARY SCREENING

An independent Management Consultancy Firm would be appointed as Selection Consultant to verify all data contained in each nomination form to consider the eligibility of each nominee; and to recommend a list of candidates for final judging. All information pertinent to the nominations will be withheld from releasing to the public and media until a final decision is made.

MANAGEMENT AREA

Jaycees is a PEOPLE organization. When individuals from all walks of life come together under one roof, they make a dynamic force driving towards greater achievements on their personal commitments as well as services to humanity. The greater the size of our membership, the stronger our organization could be. Thus, orientations and other public relations projects/activities constitute indispensable itinerary in our calendar for improving our manpower resources. Members of the Hong Kong Jaycees learn from both mistakes and victory, yet they could not have done so devoid of the support of an efficiently run Headquarters Office.

INTERNATIONAL AREA

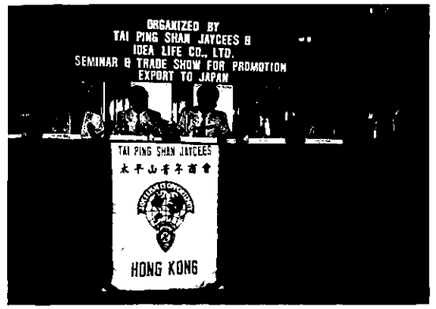

Our affiliation to the Jaycees International substantiates our status as a worldwide leadership organization comprising young men and women of all nationalities, races as well as religions. There are many occasions such as area conferences and world congresses when we could gather together for exchange of views on cultural, social or economical issues. Courtesy visits between the National Organization Members further substantiate the spirit of such internationalism to the extent that world peace could be guaranteed when the brotherhood of man transcends the soverignty of nations.
