JCI MISSION

To provide leadership development opportunities that empower young people to create positive change.

JCI VISION

To be the foremost global network of young leaders.

JCI CREED

We believe :

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than of men;
That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

HISTORY OF THE CREED

The year was 1946; the place, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, USA; the event, the United States Junior Chamber National Convention. Visitors came from Canada, Mexico, South America, Europe and the Philippine Islands. It was here that the idea of a JCI Creed was born.

Past President of the Ohio Junior Chamber and National Vice President of the United States Junior Chamber, William Brownfield realized at this convention that the organization did not have a Creed. He was inspired by the devotion of Junior Chamber members "to the purpose of serving mankind in a thousand different ways, right down at the grass roots where freedom lives or dies."

Brownfield saw Junior Chamber as "the potential for a new force in the world, one capable of changing the balance between victory or defeat for our chosen way of life in a time of crisis."

The actual writing of the Creed took place in July 1946 during a drive from Brownfield's hometown of Columbus, Ohio, to his coal mine in New Lexington, a journey of about 75 minutes. He started that journey with a firm conviction in his mind to work on the Creed. It was during that trip the following words came to mind and were put on paper:

The brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations.
Economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise.
Government should be of laws rather than of men.
Earth's great treasure lies in human personality.
Service to humanity is the best work of life.

Since it was written, Junior Chamber members all over the world recite the Creed at local, national and international meetings and functions. During that time there has been much discussion of the interpretation of the Creed. The author himself said, "Every Member is free to interpret the Creed in the light of his own conscience."

FOUNDING ERA

A spark of youth leadership igniting a movement to shape Hong Kong's future.

In the late 1940s, as Hong Kong emerged from the aftermath of World War II, there arose both a pressing need and a unique opportunity for local community leaders to play a pivotal role in the city's social and economic development. Inspired by Junior Chamber International, a diverse group of dynamic young men came together to establish the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce (Jaycees).

Fueled by enthusiasm and dedication, these pioneering Jaycees engaged in various community projects and training programs while also participating in international meetings. They opened their first office in the Hong Kong Bank building. Recognizing the societal needs, they implemented initiatives that heightened civic awareness among youth, notably creating over 30 children's libraries, including portable and mobile van libraries. The inaugural children's library was launched in 1952 at the War Memorial Centre in Wanchai, followed by others in Shek Kip Mei and Yuen Long. In 1955, they donated the first mobile van library to the Social Welfare Office, providing countless children with access to reading and learning opportunities. This initiative earned the Hong Kong Junior Chamber its first award at the Melbourne World Congress in 1952 and evolved into a scholarship program to further support education.

Alongside these civic endeavors, the Jaycees also pursued business interests, organizing their first trade exhibition in Melbourne in 1952, which paved the way for increased participation in trade and industrial exhibitions in the years to come. To broaden their perspectives, the Jaycees actively attended various conferences and congresses, which culminated in successfully hosting the first and fourth JCI Regional Conferences in Hong Kong in 1951 and 1954. These events garnered community recognition and positioned the Chamber as a leader among Jaycees in the region.

The Jaycees' involvement in international conferences not only enriched their members but also enhanced Hong Kong's regional visibility. During this period, the organization achieved notable international recognition, with members attaining prominent positions, including the JCI President in 1956 and Vice President for Commissions in 1957.

As Hong Kong rapidly developed in the 1950s, it became clear that training facilities for future executives were lacking. The Hong Kong Junior Chamber took proactive steps to promote institutional development, significantly contributing to the formation of The Hong Kong Management Association. The Jaycees were recognized as "catalysts" and "pacesetters", with the then Governor Sir Alexander Grantham describing them as "Practical Idealists"—young men turning high ideals into concrete community projects.

The groundwork laid by the Jaycees in the 1950s established a robust foundation for the Hong Kong Junior Chamber to pursue further growth and development, earning significant prestige locally and within the Jaycee community. With aspirations to host a World Congress, the Jaycees prepared meticulously for this ambitious goal, especially as the new City Hall was being constructed. Their successful bid to host the first worldwide meeting highlighted their effective organization and total member involvement.

GROWTH

Turned ideas into action and laid the foundation for a thriving Jaycee community.

In its ongoing evolution, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce entered a new developmental phase. Drawing on past experiences and the dedication of its members, the 17th World Congress of Junior Chamber International was hosted in Hong Kong for the first time in 1962. This significant event garnered extensive media attention and the use of the newly constructed City Hall became a focal point of discussion. The Congress not only cemented the Jaycees' social standing in the community but also served as a confidence booster for its members.

The substantial surplus generated from the Congress facilitated the establishment of a Trust Fund, providing a solid foundation that empowered the Jaycees to undertake various community development initiatives and ultimately purchase an office. With new members joining, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber was restructured in 1965 to include a core National Organization Member and two affiliated chapters: Victoria and Kowloon Jaycees. The JCI Regional Conference returned in 1966, further enhancing the Chamber's activities.

To promote the Jaycee spirit, the Jaycee Week program was launched in the 1960s, increasing public awareness of the organization. This period also saw the formation of the first Chinese-speaking chapter, the Peninsula Jaycees, and the first all-female chapter, the Hong Kong Jayceettes, in 1969. The diverse backgrounds of members fueled a variety of community projects, such as the Annual Dragon Seed Races, which highlighted concerns for the boat people in Kowloon's typhoon shelters.

The Jaycees also initiated the Miss International Goodwill Contest and the later Miss Hong Kong Contest, establishing an international friendship program that fostered goodwill and cultural exchange in Hong Kong. As the membership and project scope expanded, the need for improved communication, cooperation, and administration became evident. The introduction of management courses and events like the Golden Anniversary Ball addressed these needs. Throughout the 1960s, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce increasingly focused on membership growth, leadership training opportunities, and community betterment initiatives.

EXPANSION

Empowered new generation to drive social and economic progress.

As the 1970s began, following the celebration of its Silver Jubilee Anniversary, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce entered a period of significant expansion and heightened international recognition for its exemplary administrative activities. This decade was marked by numerous rewarding projects and initiatives, with the formation of five additional chapters. The JCI Asia Pacific Conferences were successfully hosted in Hong Kong in both 1972 and 1979.

In 1974, during the World Congress in Auckland, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber received its first LOM Award along with the JCI Presidential Award and the Presidential Award of Excellence in NOM management. By 1977, the Chamber opened its own office with support from the Trust Fund, fostering a stronger sense of community among members.

Notable projects during this time included:

- The launch of the first "Outstanding Young Men Award," which evolved into the "Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection" (TOYP) program, garnering ongoing public support and acclaim.
- The "Exchange Program," initiated in 1971, facilitated cultural exchange between Hong Kong and Japan through the first Youth Voyage.
- The installation of the first "Solar Heating System" at the Wu Kai Sha Youth Camp, which earned the first LOM Award at the JCI World Congress.
- The widely recognized "Earth Population Awareness Program," promoting the slogan: "One is cute; Two is ideal; Three is too much for the bill; Four breaks the family quilt," later adopted by The Family Planning Association for educational purposes.
- The "Pop Folk Concert," which became a significant outdoor event that attracted youth in Hong Kong.
- Health initiatives such as the "Eye Care Campaign" and the "Kidney Donation Campaign," highlighting the importance of health awareness.

This era of growth and impactful projects solidified the Hong Kong Junior Chamber's reputation and commitment to community betterment.

INNOVATION

Embraced change and launched impactful projects to bridge tradition and modernity.

The Jaycees movement in the 1980s faced numerous challenges while simultaneously creating exciting new opportunities. During this decade, the organization welcomed more Local Organization Members (LOMs), boosting total membership to over 1,300 across 19 chapters. Notably, the Macau Jaycees, formed by the Macau Jaycees and Hou Kong Jaycees, affiliated with JCI as an independent National Organization Member by the end of 1988.

With a surge of energetic young members, the Jaycees initiated various meaningful and innovative projects, including the "Young Scientists Awards," "International Children Drawing Competition & Exhibition," "Chunk-Click and Go," "Spread the Lights," "Good Children Awards," "Courtesy Campaign," "N.T. Regional Outstanding Student Selection," and "Road Safety Campaign."

The decade also brought significant achievements for the Hong Kong Junior Chamber. Senator Jennifer Yu made history as the first Chinese woman elected as World President in 1988. Additionally, four recipients of the Ten Outstanding Young Persons (TOYP) award from Hong Kong were honored as Outstanding Young Persons of the World at JCI World Congresses in 1983, 1984, 1985, and 1988. Three female National Presidents led the Hong Kong Junior Chamber in 1983, 1987, and 1989.

As the 1980s drew to a close, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber confronted various public issues affecting the broader community. Nevertheless, they remained committed to their mission of community involvement and served as a vital training organization for young people. In December 1989, the Chamber was honored to participate in the inaugural "Youth Rally" of the "Youth Festival," further strengthening relationships with external youth organizations and the government, while maintaining a positive public image for the Jaycees.

GUIDANCE

Remained compasses of stability, guiding youth leadership into a new era.

As the 1990s began—a decade marked by change and transition—the Hong Kong Junior Chamber remained committed to promoting social responsibility among young people. In 1991, during Hong Kong's first direct elections, all 17 local chapters organized the "One Plus One – Support Direct Election" campaign, showcasing the Jaycees' active involvement in civic matters.

In 1993, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber hosted the JCI World Congress, drawing more than 6,000 delegates from over 100 countries. This event was especially notable as it had been 30 years since the Hong Kong Jaycees last hosted the World Congress in 1962, an occasion that received widespread acclaim.

The 1990s also saw significant improvements within the organization. With support from the Hong Kong Junior Chamber Trust Fund, a new office was acquired in Sheung Wan in 1990, providing a larger training and meeting space for its 1,500 members. Additionally, the "National Business Network" (NBN) and the "Training and Development Committee" (TDC) were established to expand networking and development opportunities for members.

Since 1996, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber has actively participated in the "Right Decisions Program," a global initiative launched by JCI that emphasizes the importance of making sound choices. This program has been implemented in primary and secondary schools since 1998, furthering the Chamber's mission to empower youth.

GLOBAL CONNECTION

Stepped onto the world stage in new millennium, linking local impact with global leadership.

JCI HONG KONG, CHINA
THE 75TH ANNIVERSARY

As the new millennium began, the world underwent significant changes, entering a digital era. In 2003, JCI introduced the electronic Bid Book, which JCI Hong Kong fully adopted by 2005. To enhance its branding, JCI updated its logo and name globally, aligning with the resolution from the JCI Copenhagen World Congress in 2003. Consequently, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber was renamed JCI Hong Kong in 2004.

To accommodate a growing membership, an Office Purchase Ad hoc Committee was formed in 2000. With support from the Hong Kong Junior Chamber Trust Funds, a new office was acquired in the Seaview Commercial Building on Connaught Road West in 2004. That same year, the Hong Kong Junior Chamber Foundation (formerly the Hong Kong Junior Chamber Trust Fund) was established to manage trust funds and provide financial support to JCI Hong Kong and its chapters.

Following Hong Kong's handover to the People's Republic of China in 1997, JCI Hong Kong co-organized a Youth Exchange Program with other youth organizations starting in 2006 to enhance young people's understanding of Mainland China. In 2008, collaborations began with the China Youth University for Political Sciences to organize National Affairs Lectures for JC leaders in Beijing.

JCI Hong Kong has consistently strived for excellence, achieving a Guinness World Record in 2001 for the largest mosaic made of paper flowers, created by TOYP awardees and numerous JC members. Additionally, in 2005, JCI Hong Kong was honored with the Most Outstanding National Organization Member Award.

Since 2008, the organization has adopted the United Nations Millennium Development Goals (UNMDGs) as one of its National Flagship Projects, focusing on issues such as eradicating extreme poverty, achieving universal primary education, combating diseases, ensuring environmental sustainability, and fostering global partnerships for development.

In 2010, JCI Hong Kong aimed to secure the hosting rights for the 2012 JCI Asia and the Pacific Conference during the Singapore ASPAC.

RESILIENCE

United leaders to strengthen communities and uphold the Jaycee spirit.

The 2010s mark the centenary of the JC Movement, which has gained significant momentum and expanded globally over the past century. Today, it boasts over 200,000 members across more than 5,000 local organizations. In Hong Kong, JCI continues to foster positive change among young, active citizens by recruiting new members and establishing additional chapters. Initiatives like The Housing Forum, which featured an address from the Chief Executive of Hong Kong, exemplify JCI Hong Kong's dedication to the community. Additionally, JCI Hong Kong hosted the 2012 JCI Asia Pacific Conference, attracting over 4,800 delegates from more than 40 countries.

On an international scale, the United Nations Millennium Development Goals (UNMDGs) are set to conclude in 2015. During this decade, in which JCI officially endorses the UNMDGs, JCI Hong Kong has launched numerous impactful projects aimed at addressing these goals. Moving forward, JCI Hong Kong will continue its commitment to supporting global issues.

Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection

The Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection (TOYP) is one of the most prestigious among the many meaningful projects and activities launched by Junior Chamber International Hong Kong, China. Organized since 1970, it has grown with prominence and recognition by the general public. A total of 413 TOYP Awardees have been honored in previous selections.

The TOYP Selection aims to give formal recognition to those young people who excel themselves in their professional endeavor and commitments to the community; to promote prominent roles played by aspiring young people in shaping a better future for society; and to provide an incentive to all promising young people who seek further advancement in personal achievements as well as public services.

The TOYP awardees are selected in different areas of specialization, namely Commerce and Industry; Professionals; Civic and Social Services; and Entertainment/ Sports/ Culture and Art. The awardees' personal achievement in their area of work/ interest and contribution to the community both equally constitute the criteria for consideration in the Selection.

Throughout the years, the awardees act as role models, giving inspiration to the younger generation in the development of their personal qualities, and through participation in community services, thus helping them to shoulder the responsibility of building up our society.
